Bill To Aid Red Nations Is Approved

Would Provide Over $3-Billion For Assistance

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday approved a $3,713,000,000 foreign aid bill that would authorize U.S. economic and financial help for any Communist bloc nation except Russia, Red China and North Korea.

The vote was 14-1 with Sen. William Langer (R-N.D.) casting the only opposing vote.

The bill would authorize 229 million dollars less in foreign aid than President Eisenhower requested. But it totaled 110 million dollars more than had been voted by the House. Senate leaders hoped for final Senate action next week.

Before approving the bill, the committee okayed amendments to crack down on free-spending members of Congress on overseas junkets and to prevent Latin American governments from using U.S. arms or ammunition against their own people.

May Revise Program

The Communist aid provision would greatly revise this country's relations with Russian satellite countries. President Eisenhower could extend aid to such countries as Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia if he felt it was in this nation's best interests.

The provision was designed to encourage Communist satellites to break away from domination by Russia or Red China.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said it would "strengthen the hand of the President in driving a wedge between the Soviet Union and its satellites and I think this hits the Soviet Union in its most vulnerable spot."

The measure approved by the committee merely authorizes the aid program. Even after it is approved, Congress still must act on a separate measure putting up the actual cash. This bill will be the main target of the congressional economy bloc.

Before the final vote, the committee reversed its action of Thursday in restoring House cuts and voted to slash a total of $235,000,000 from military aid and so-called "defense support" funds combined.

The President would decide exactly where the cuts should be made.

Merger Of UP, INS Confirmed, AP Story Says

NEW YORK (AP) — A merger of the United Press Associations and International News Service is in the offing, it was confirmed Friday. An announcement is expected Sunday.

It was learned that such a merger, long under consideration by the two news wire services, has been under renewed discussion and that, except for formal signing, has been decided upon.

No Buying

It was understood that there would be no buying or selling involved in the transaction.

Dow Jones, a business news service, said the United Press plans to acquire INS from the Hearst Corp. United Press is owned by the Scripps Howard Newspapers.

INS is operated through Hearst Consolidated. It has an editorial staff of about 400 in this country and abroad and a staff of 65 teletype operators.

Dow Jones, in its story, said the impending deal was confirmed by a spokesman for William Randolph Hearst Jr., president of Hearst Consolidated Publications Inc., through which INS is operated. The spokesman was not named.

Officers Enter Search For Child

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Juvenile officers Friday entered a search for 10-year-old Carolyn Badaux, missing after she refused to return home for fear of being punished.

Mrs. Hazel Badaux said her daughter left home about 3 p.m. Thursday to play with a friend who lives nearby. A friend told her Carolyn went with a small boy to take an injured cat to a veterinarian and the pair ended up later at a library.

The boy, questioned at school Friday, said he left Carolyn on the library steps after she told him she was afraid to go home because it was so late she might get spanked.

KILLER SAYS 'GOODBYE'

Death Is Ordered For Starkweather In Electric Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UP) — Charles Starkweather, the 19-year-old who went on a homicidal orgy that took 11 lives, was ordered to pay with his own Friday.

A jury of eight women and four men found the red-haired mass killer guilty of the murder of just one of his victims, but that was enough to commit Starkweather to the electric chair.

The former garbage hauler spoke not one word in the courtroom except to whisper what appeared to be "goodbye" to his defense attorney, T. Clement Gaughan, as he was led in handcuffs out of the room.

Reporters stopped him in the corridor as he was being led out on the way to the state penitentiary.

Tried for 'Whole Thing'

They asked him: "How do you feel, Charlie?"

"I don't think they tried me for Jensen," he said. "They tried me for the whole thing."

By the "whole thing" he meant the rampage of killing that terrorized this community last January when he and his 14-year-old girl friend, Carol Fugate, left bodies strewn from the slums to the most exclusive residential district of Lincoln.

Attorney Gaughan was asked what he thought of the outcome.

"I presume Charlie got what he wanted," Gaughan said. "That is what he always wanted."

The defense was given 10 days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

Starkweather's execution may be delayed until next fall so that he could testify at the murder trial of Carol Fugate. His confession implicated her in the slaying of her own mother, her baby half-sister, 16-year-old Carol King, Mrs. C. Lauer Ward, and the Wards' maid in the Lauer home.

MRS. PARKER SAYS La. Welfare Dep't To Trim Its Sails

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Welfare Commission Mrs. Mary Evelyn Parker, said Friday her department plans to trim its sails in the face of a $1,100,000 administrative budget cut.

The budget submitted the Legislature this week included a requested eight million dollars increase in assistance funds, but cut back administrative expenses from the current fiscal year.

Mrs. Parker told the Welfare Board at its regular meeting routine salary raises would be discontinued, some services will be abandoned and the staff will be reduced by leaving vacancies unfilled. She said the surplus commodity program may be one of the first services to be dropped.

Okay Fund

The board approved a July administrative fund allocation about 10 per cent below the current monthly allocations. July is the first month of the fiscal year for the new budget.

Mrs. Parker said the department faces a very serious financial crisis but will operate "within whatever the Legislature gives us regardless."

She said the reduced staff will mean greater case loads per worker in the coming year. The director also pointed out that increased per worker case loads result in less efficient culling out of ineligible.

Changes in the state's agricultural economy was listed as the foremost cause of the increase in aid to dependent children applications. Mrs. Edith G. Ross, director of the department's public assistance bureau, reported on a three-month survey of the reasons for the rise in children's aid cases.

She said the northeast section of the state reports the highest rate of climb with parish directors saying fathers are abandoning farm families to look for jobs in metropolitan areas both in and outside the state.

Public Safety French Gov't Is Demanded

Overthrow Of 4th Republic Openly Called For Now

PARIS (UP) — French generals and civilians in Algeria Friday openly demanded the overthrow of the fourth republic and the formation of a "public safety" government under General Charles De Gaulle in Paris.

Fighting to stave off onslaughts from either the extreme right or the Communists on the left, moderate Premier Pierre Pflimlin made a nationwide radio-TV broadcast to announce that he would stake the life of his 10-day old regime on a confidence vote on his program to strengthen the executive branch of government.

He did not once mention the near-mutiny in Algiers and the most defiant stand yet taken by the rightist Algerian leaders. But he emphasized the urgency of his request for stronger powers and insisted:

"It would not be tolerable that a fraction of the nation should attempt to impose its will on the entire country."

He called for constitutional reforms to "give the republican government authority and continuity."

The reforms must be adopted "in the very next few days," he said, if the republican system of government is to be strengthened "in legal ways."

Aimed At 'Extremists'

Pflimlin said the reform was aimed at both the right and left wing "extremists."

Pflimlin as well as other leaders of the republican parties were reported thunderstruck by the events in Algiers Friday.

Gen. Raoul Salan, France's highest military and civil representative in moutinous Algeria, presided at the organizational meeting of a "super" public safety committee which claimed itself as "the depository of public sovereignty."

Salan neither asked nor received a post on the committee. He turned the chair over to rebellious Gen. Jacques Massu, the paratrooper commander, who became co-president of the committee with Sid Cara, a Moslem and longtime Algerian secretary of state.

Salan, who has made pro-De Gaulle statements, told a cheering crowd of 10,000 that "Algeria always will remain French." As he spoke, he gestured dramatically. (Continued on Page Two-A)

Firemen Report Oil Fire Can't Be Extinguished

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Firemen Friday gave up all hope of trying to extinguish a raging oil refinery fire that already has cost millions of dollars and claimed two lives.

"We are not trying to put out the fire now," said Noel Manchester, county battalion chief. "We can't. It will have to burn itself out."

The inferno - like blaze, which spewed rolling black clouds into the Southern California skies, still is confined to the 40-acre Hancock Oil Co. refinery on the north slope of Signal Hill.

It is the worst refinery fire in the area in 30 years, firemen said. It started Thursday afternoon.

Firemen have been plagued with low water pressure and the threat of new explosions. Pressure dropped to five pounds at times. At least 15 huge gasoline, fuel oil and other tanks of highly inflammable fuel have exploded, spewing rivers of fire and showering surrounding communities.

The holocaust was touched off when steam coils in a 60,000-barrel crude oil tank burst. This triggered a chain reaction of explosions. A section of Long Beach Municipal Airport and a nearby hospital were evacuated.

Rain fell only on the Southside of Monroe yesterday with the rest of the city enjoying partly cloudy weather.

Argentine Naval Squadron Attacks Apparent Red Sub

Mysterious Vessel May Have Sunk

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — An Argentine naval squadron that included two former U. S. cruisers sank or damaged an unidentified but presumably Communist submarine with depth charges off the southern coast of Argentina last Wednesday, President Arturo Frondizi announced Friday.

Naval authorities speculated that the mysterious vessel might have been a prowler from the enormous Soviet underwater fleet, which comprises more than 400 submarines, or possibly from East Germany, Poland or Communist China.

(The U. S. Navy Department in Washington said no American submarines were missing in South American waters or elsewhere.)

(Western Allied navies also reported that none of their submarines had been attacked.)

Calls News Conference

Frondizi told a specially-called press conference that a squadron of three cruisers — including the former U. S. S. Boise and U. S. S. Phoenix — and four destroyers accidentally discovered the submarine while on maneuvers along the southern Atlantic Argentine coast last Wednesday.

While northwest of the small port, Puerto Cracker, in the Golfo Nuevo, about 650 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, underwater listening devices aboard the destroyers detected a submarine navigating while submerged, the president said.

After four fruitless attempts to get the submarine to identify itself, the Argentine squadron made four depth charge attacks on the mystery ship, he added, since it (Continued on Page Two-A)

Girl Is Bitten, Clawed By Bear At Zoo In Wis.

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Ten-year-old Mary Heibner of Waukegan, Ill., was bitten and clawed by a bear at the Racine Public Zoo Friday while on an outing with other school children.

The girl underwent three hours of emergency surgery on her right arm which was not amputated. Authorities said her condition was good. Zoo director Emil Rokosky said her arm was badly mangled between elbow and wrist. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heibner.

A policeman in the rescue squad said Mary told him that she stuck her hand within range of the bear in an attempt to pet it. Rokosky said the attack took place where a guard rail was comparatively close to the cage.

Zoo attendants beat off the animal with a tree limb and an iron bar. The bars of the cage were then bent open to release the girl's arm.

Disaster Hq. Established In Jonesville

Onslaught of flood waters in the past few weeks has resulted in establishment of disaster headquarters of the Red Cross in Jonesville for Catahoula Parish residents and pleas for help from both Catahoula and Caldwell parishes.

Mrs. Hannah Jackson and Mrs. Beulah Palmer, disaster representatives from National Red Cross headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., set up the headquarters and started taking applications yesterday afternoon from those seeking assistance.

Applications will be taken throughout today, with issuance of credit vouchers slated for Monday. Six more tents were set up yesterday for the evacuated residents from lower sections of Catahoula Parish, bringing the total number of issued tents to 86.

Tents Available

Fourteen tents are still available for use, officials said. The shipment of 100 came from Fort Polk. The river in the Jonesville area with a crest of 54 feet expected by Tuesday. Flood stage there is 50 feet.

More than 50 families in nearby Enterprise are virtually marooned by the cascading waters. All levees in the district are reported holding.

One main worry in the area is how to feed 3,500 head of cattle which have been evacuated. Authorities in Catahoula Parish last night said government aid has been requested, but no official word had been received that that time.

$10-Million Loan Sought For State

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Treasurer A. P. Tugwell said Friday he will ask the Legislature to approve borrowing 10 million dollars from the institutional bond fund to wipe out this fiscal year's deficit.

The first oil royalties coming in next fiscal year, however, must repay the money taken temporarily from the bond fund.

Tugwell explained his proposed legislative step after Rep. Claude Kirkpatrick predicted Gov. Earl Long's administration would help solve the $10,529,530 state deficit this fiscal year and the $8,600,000 budget omission for teachers by boosting state revenue estimates.

If revenue estimates are raised, more spending is possible. If estimates are tight, then spending is curtailed.

Political Desire

Rep. Jasper Smith of Caddo Parish, who shares with Kirkpatrick a desire to run for governor, also took the view Long's administration was too conservative in next year's revenue picture.

Smith said the new fiscal year's revenues should climb 14 million or twice the seven million officially estimated by Revenue Collector James Reilly.

The Caddo lawmaker said he based his estimate on the average four per cent increase in state revenues the last 16 years. The administration sees only a two per cent increase.

Replace Money

Tugwell's proposed step to erase this year's 10 million deficit in the state general fund is nothing more than taking money immediately available and replacing it within a few months from new state revenues which ordinarily would be available for other budget use.

The $8,600,000 Kirkpatrick mentioned was made public in Thursday's meeting of the United School Committee with Long's legislative leaders and anti-tax spokesmen. Kirkpatrick was named by Long for anti-administration forces to attend the session.

Modification Of Nike-Ajax Missiles Halts

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Army Friday halted modification of its Nike-Ajax anti-aircraft missiles pending an investigation into an explosion at the Leonardo, N.J., base Thursday which killed 10 persons.

Modification work was under way at the base when eight super-sonic Nike-Ajax missiles exploded as men were installing a new arming device on one of the weapons. The blast aroused the ire of municipal officials who had been assured the base was safe.

Condolences

Simultaneously, Acting Army Secretary Hugh H. Milton II extended the Army's condolences to families of the men killed in the explosion.

"Each of these men was accepting the hazards of defense against air attack for the mutual protection of all of us, and they deserve our humble gratitude," Milton said.

The Army said that modification work had been completed on "hundreds" of missiles throughout the country without incident. But in the wake of the New Jersey explosion it decided to suspend the work "throughout the Army."

Suspension

It said the suspension was ordered by the Army Ordnance Missile Command at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala. It will remain in effect until the cause of the New Jersey explosion has been determined.

The Army announced Thursday that the explosions occurred while a group of soldiers and civilian personnel was installing a new arming device on a Nike-Ajax.

Until the investigation has been completed, the Army said "only speculation is possible concerning the cause of the explosion."

Police said the youth's car collided with a car driven by John B. Simpson at the intersection of West Silas Brown and Walnut.

McGrew was rushed to Baptist Hospital in a vain attempt to save his life.

J. A. McGrew had arranged last night to have the body taken to Gay's Funeral Home in Delhi. Other funeral arrangements were incomplete.

$10-Million Loan Sought For State

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Treasurer A. P. Tugwell said Friday he will ask the Legislature to approve borrowing 10 million dollars from the institutional bond fund to wipe out this fiscal year's deficit.

The first oil royalties coming in next fiscal year, however, must repay the money taken temporarily from the bond fund.

Tugwell explained his proposed legislative step after Rep. Claude Kirkpatrick predicted Gov. Earl Long's administration would help solve the $10,529,530 state deficit this fiscal year and the $8,600,000 budget omission for teachers by boosting state revenue estimates.

If revenue estimates are raised, more spending is possible. If estimates are tight, then spending is curtailed.

Political Desire

Rep. Jasper Smith of Caddo Parish, who shares with Kirkpatrick a desire to run for governor, also took the view Long's administration was too conservative in next year's revenue picture.

Smith said the new fiscal year's revenues should climb 14 million or twice the seven million officially estimated by Revenue Collector James Reilly.

The Caddo lawmaker said he based his estimate on the average four per cent increase in state revenues the last 16 years. The ad-

FERRIDAY SINGER

Jerry Lee Lewis Weds 13-Year-Old

LONDON, England—Jerry Lee Lewis, Ferriday, La.-reared rock 'n' roll singer who started out studying for the ministry, has taken his third wife, a 13-year-old cousin from Memphis, Tenn.

The Associated Press disclosed Friday, Lewis, 22, has married the daughter of his band's bass fiddle player.

The former Myra Brown is his third wife, he said he was married first when he was 15.

They haven't bought a wedding ring but he has given her a big red car for a wedding present.

Myra said they have been married about two months — "I forget the exact date" — and doesn't think she is too young to be married.

Girl, 9, Married

"Gosh, no," she giggled. "Back home I know one girl who got married when she was 9."

Lewis is here for a tour of Britain's vaudeville theaters.

Downstairs at their hotel he drawled to reporters: "My wife is cute. She might look young and be

Mysterious Vessel May Have Sunk

BUENOS AIRES (UP)—An Argentine naval squadron that included two former U. S. cruisers sank or damaged an unidentified but presumably Communist submarine with depth charges off the southern coast of Argentina last Wednesday, President Arturo Frondizi announced Friday.

Naval authorities speculated that the mysterious vessel might have been a prowler from the enormous Soviet underwater fleet, which comprises more than 400 submarines, or possibly from East Germany, Poland or Communist China.

(The U. S. Navy Department in Washington said no American submarines were missing in South American waters or elsewhere.)

Calls News Conference

Frondizi told a specially-called press conference that a squadron of three cruisers — including the former U. S. S. Boise and U. S. S. Phoenix — and four destroyers accidentally discovered the submarine while on maneuvers along the southern Atlantic Argentine coast last Wednesday.

While northwest of the small port, Puerto Cracker, in the Golfo Nuevo, about 650 miles southwest of Buenos Aires, underwater listening devices aboard the destroyers detected a submarine navigating while submerged, the president said.

After four fruitless attempts to get the submarine to identify itself the Argentine squadron made four depth charge attacks on the mystery ship, he added, since it

Girl Is Bitten, Clawed By Bear At Zoo In Wis.

RACINE, Wis. (AP)—Ten-year-old Mary Heibner of Waukegan, Ill., was bitten and clawed by a bear at the Racine Public Zoo Friday while on an outing with other school children.

The girl underwent three hours of emergency surgery on her right arm which was not amputated. Authorities said her condition was good. Zoo director Emil Rokosky said her arm was badly mangled between elbow and wrist. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heibner.

A policeman in the rescue squad said Mary told him that she stuck her hand within range of the bear in an attempt to pet it. Rokosky said the attack took place where a guard rail was comparatively close to the cage.

Zoo attendants beat off the animal with a tree limb and an iron bar. The bars of the cage were then bent open to release the girl's arm.

Baccalaureate Services Set At Northeast

The Very Rev. Monsignor John C. Marsh, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, will address the graduating class of Northeast State at the baccalaureate service on Sunday at 5 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Following the service, President and Mrs. Lewis C. Slater will honor graduates and their parents at a garden party from 6:15 to 7:15 at 221 Chauvin Avenue.

Participating in the baccalaureate program will be two members of the clergy in addition to Father Marsh. The Rev. Jaroy Weber, pastor of the First Baptist Church, West Monroe, will give the invocation and Dr. Ernest D. Holloway, Dean of men at Northeast, will offer the benediction.

The service will include special music by Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, organist, and numbers by the concert choir, with Lee Fiser directing. Both musicians are members of the Northeast fine art faculty.

Father Marsh, a native of Alexandria, came to Monroe in 1925 as assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church. He has been pastor since 1945.

He received both B.A. and M.A. degrees from St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and the bachelor of sacred theology degree from Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

Accountants End Sessions

The Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants concluded a three-day meet in Monroe last night with a dinner dance in the Virginia Hotel Ballroom.

During the convention, the accountants heard technical papers read on recent developments in federal income taxation, accountants' fees and the future of accounting.

More than 175 members and their wives attended the convention.

Death Is Ordered For Starkweather In Electric Chair

first-degree murder charges or in Juvenile Court. Gaughan, who had pleaded insanity against the wishes of Starkweather, said he felt the slayer's execution was at least a year away. He said he would appeal to the state Supreme Court and that he felt there were constitutional grounds for taking an appeal to the federal courts and to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

Had the jury returned a verdict of insanity, Starkweather would have been committed to once to a state mental institution. He could have been freed later if

Incumbents Apparently Unopposed

As of last night it appeared almost certain that Fifth Congressional District Representative Otto E. Passman, and State Supreme Court Justice Frank W. Hawthorne, would be unopposed in the July 29 Democratic Primary.

Deadline for the qualification of candidates was 5 p.m. yesterday. No other candidates had qualified in person by that time. Qualifications may be sent by mail, but unless some unexpected application is received today postmarked earlier than 5 p.m. yesterday, the incumbents will be unopposed. Officials of the Fifth Congressional District Executive Committee reported last night that such an event was unlikely.

Rumors earlier had it that State Representative Lawrence Gibbs would enter the Congressional race. Gibbs squashed such reports last night by stating, "It's news to me." Gibbs added that many of his friends had asked him to run for Congress, but that right now, "I only want to be a good State Representative for the people of Ouachita Parish, and with the Legislature shaping up the way it is, it looks like that might be a full, man size job." The Ouachita Parish Democratic executive committee met yesterday and set the deadline for 5 p.m. Tuesday, June 2 for the qualifying of candidates to fill five places on the Ouachita Parish School Board. The Democratic Primary will be held on July 29.

Candidates may file with Burt Sperry, chairman of the parish executive committee, or the secretary of the group, Thomas M. Hayes, Jr. Sperry's office is in the Ouachita Bank Building. Hayes' is located in the Bernhardt Building.

Those members of the school board whose terms will expire are: Hugh Balfour, Ward Five; Marvin Shipp, Ward Four; E. M. Finley, Ward Six; C. P. Holloway, Ward Seven; and Wayne McDonald, Ward 10.

ruled sane, but Judge Harry Spencer said he felt such a course by the state board of examiners would have been extremely unlikely.

Gaughan was asked whether Starkweather would testify against the Fugate girl. "Who knows?" he replied. "Sometimes he says she will go down with him and at other times he tells us if we think he is going to testify against her, we are crazy."

Calls Verdict 'Proper'

County Atty. Elmer Scheele said, "It is a correct and proper verdict and one that just had to be. It was absolutely necessary for the protection of the community and the society. It took a courageous jury such as this one to meet its responsibility as good citizens."

Starkweather was found guilty specifically on two counts in the murder and robbery of 17-year-old Robert Jensen, whose body, along with that of the King girl, was found in a storm cave on an abandoned schoolyard.

The girl had been disrobed and an attempt had been made to ravish her.

Starkweather looked shaken Friday for the first time during the trial. He wore a green cotton shirt open at the collar and looked sweaty. He didn't have his customary chewing gum and the smirk was gone from his face, although he managed a few wan smiles.

His tiny red-haired mother was at his side at the defense table when the verdict was brought in. Shortly after it was announced, she rose and walked hurriedly to the privacy of the judge's chambers.

Charlie's father, Guy, arrived at the courtroom seconds after the jury returned the verdict.

Police Fill Courthouse
He said that he talked to Charles after the verdict and his son told him:

"I committed some of these crimes and if I want to make my atonement to God and be electrocuted, that's my business."

The 70-year-old Lancaster County courthouse was filled with police. They lined the corridors and the stairs as Charlie was led in a waist chain to the sheriff's car for the trip back to the penitentiary, where he will die.

The jury took as long as it did, one of its women members said, because "we think we read everything we could read in the evidence."

Starkweather's own confession ran hundreds of pages.

Another member of the jury said they had taken "less than a half dozen ballots but more than a few."

Citizens of this community had been astounded that the verdict was not returned sooner than it was, but the members disagreed at the outset on the sentence of execution or life imprisonment.

In Nebraska, the jury sets the sentence in a first-degree murder case.

10,000 head of cattle seriously affected.

This information was sent to the state disaster committee with a request for immediate inauguration of an emergency livestock feed program. The Caldwell committee will coordinate the requests for emergency assistance for farmers who have suffered from any type of disaster.

People of Caldwell Parish may apply to this committee at the Agricultural Office in Columbia. The committee also makes recommendations to state and federal officials regarding emergency requests resulting from floods.

Also in Columbia, the swift river currents halted attempts of four divers to recover the bodies of Clark Cadell Franklin and Thurman Roberts Franklin, who died Saturday when their car ripped through a barricade where the Ouachita River bridge was open to allow a barge to go through.

One diver reportedly had a close escape from death as he attempted to go to the bottom of the river. The divers, from the Navy, and the Coast Guard men who were assisting, all moved off the job when currents proved too strong. It was not known last night when any further attempts will be made.

However, Columbia officials are continuing a patrol of the river.

In Twin Cities

The rampage of the Ouachita in the Twin Cities appeared to be easing slightly yesterday, as no perceptible change was noted in the river reading between 7 a.m. yesterday and 4 p.m. The recording was 50.44 feet, topping the 1945 reading of 50.42.

The consensus of officials here last night was that the river was in the "cresting stage" now, with actual crest expected in the early hours of this morning.

The previously predicted crest of 51 feet has been ruled out, barring additional rains. The 7-block strip on South Grand was being well-protected by the sandbags as the first line of defense, and the emergency 6-foot "mud wall" which extends into the street.

Judge Harry Adams, who granted the singer's recent divorce, said the third marriage was "no concern of the court in the divorce hearing."

Bell Witness Says Earning Much Too Low

BATON ROUGE (AP)—A Southern Bell consultant testified Friday no utility can operate successfully on earnings proposed by Arnold Hirsch, star witness for the Louisiana Public Service Commission. Dr. Ralph Badget, New York and Detroit investment and utility consultant, under cross examination, offered his views before the rate hearing adjourned.

Southern Bell hearings, in which the phone company seeks a seven-million-dollar emergency rate boost and other increases totaling up to 13 million, will continue May 28-29 in Alexandria.

Commission chairman Nat Knight, after Badget had testified the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. directors named Southern Bell's board, recalled phone testimony that Southern Bell was operated as a separate corporation.

"Dr. Badget," Knight said, "are you familiar with Aesop's Fable about the man who blew on his hands to warm them, and with the same breath blew on his soup to cool it?"

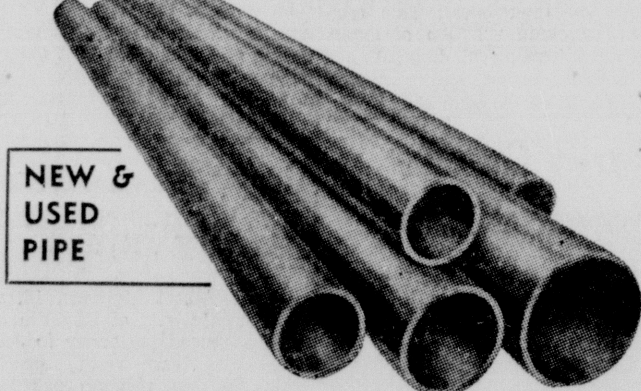

"All through this hearing," Knight continued, "the so-called independence of Southern Bell has been emphasized, and now you say AT&T names Southern Bell directors, and you advocate charging to Southern Bell the expenses incurred by AT&T in obtaining money to buy Southern Bell stock."

partment of Public Works and the Tensas Basin Levee Board made an inspection tour of the levees, sea walls and other defense measures in the Twin Cities yesterday, and reported everything in "good shape." The 131 National Guardsmen remain on patrol duty.

Operators of motor boats on flooded Bayou DeSiard here are posing a problem according to H. W. McSherry, Commissioner of Finance and Utilities. He said the boats knock up waves which are endangering the bayou dam at the city's water pumping station, and pointed out that if the dam should break, Monroe would face a crisis in its drinking water supply.

Motor boat enthusiasts are asked to refrain from using the bayou until the water recedes.

Winners Told In 2 Contests In Lincoln

RUSTON (Special)—Miss Diane Williams of Ruston, a senior at Ruston High School, was elected Miss Lincoln Parish in a contest last night at the Howard Auditorium.

Miss Mellie Jo Jeffcoat of DuBach, a sophomore at Louisiana Tech, was runner-up, and Miss Billie Sue Lewis of Simsboro, Tech freshman, took third place.

In the Miss Louisiana Tech contest, top honors were taken by Miss Lou Ann Locke of Shreveport, with Miss Suzie Acklin of Jonesboro in second place and Miss Joyce Kennedy of Farmerville taking third.

Miss Martha Harper of Monroe, Louisiana Tech student, was chosen Miss Congeniality and received a $25 award.

Miss Williams and Miss Locke each received a $150 scholarship to Tech, and a set of luggage. They both compete in the Miss Louisiana contest to be held in Lake Providence.

Receive Gifts

Miss Jeffcoat and Miss Acklin were each given a formal evening gown and Miss Acklin also received a cocktail dress.

Judges were Mrs. Jack Taylor, Arcadia, chairman of the Miss Bienville Parish contest; Miss Martha Lynn, Shreveport recording artist; Pericles Alexander, Shreveport columnist; Harry Arthur of Monroe, and Mrs. Emmett Mitchell of Ruston, Mrs. Louisiana of 1956.

Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Jeanette Kimball of Ruston, Mrs. Louisiana of 1957.

A street parade was held yesterday afternoon, followed by a tea in the home of Mrs. K. D. Kilpatrick. The contests climaxed the activities.

He said a full investigation was under way and its outcome would be announced as soon as possible.

Still Optimistic Despite Big Drop

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Despite a 20 per cent drop in sales, General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice told stockholders Friday the firm sees only "optimism for our own future."

Curtice reported at the 50th annual meeting, with 3,000 stockholders crowded into the assembly plant here, that GM is "enjoying the best competitive position in our history."

He said that more people are buying General Motors' products than those of competitors, particularly automobiles, even though there is a sales and profit slump.

Chapter 16
The two young people were as modern as the two-colored car they were driving. David Wallace wasn't sure if they had seen each other since his father's death six years ago. Elsa thought they had, remembering a day he had called to deliver a gift from his mother but had refused to come in.

"I'm afraid it will be very lonely for her now. She needs me," he said. His eyes met hers daring her to deny it.

As if she didn't know that Kitty had no pride in being a mother. Her maternal instinct which would have cushioned the fall into middle age was like a parachute which had failed to open. She had refused to respond to her son's "Mother" just as she had later to Elsa's "Aunt Kitty."

"But what shall I call you?" the 12-year-old girl had inquired. "Why not just Kitty? I'm a friend not a relative." Kitty had suggested smiling. She had smiled frequently during those days. The first year after her husband's death she bloomed like an exotic flower. She had been in love with Elsa's father long before her husband died yet it had been Kitty's idea to marry Robert Wallace and he had reminded her of this during the numerous arguments which followed.

Kitty had denied any responsibility and both continued to "play the game," as Robert called it. He loved his wife in his own blundering way, but after his son was born she moved out of his heart, although for the boy's sake they continued to live in the same house. David had been sent to a military school in the east. His mother began her study of interior decorating for which she had a natural aptitude. Her husband had flown east several times to see his son, but Kitty did not accompany him.

Randy, Elsa's father, was Kitty's husband's best friend. This, of course, prevented him from responding to her subtle pursuit during Robert's lifetime. But after the funeral the situation became more romantic. They met for conferences until it became a habit—then a necessity. They belonged to the same group socially, and since most of the others were married it was customary to go to parties together. Then, since their respective children were not living at home, their relationship gradually deepened.

When David joined the navy, Kitty was delighted. The freedom she had longed for ever since her son's birth was hers. By the end of two years she and Randy would be married. Then at long last they could acknowledge the children. Randy would like David if he knew him better, Kitty had thought and Elsa, who had lost her mother the night of her birth, had developed into a lovely girl of 18.

Kitty had had it all figured out. Mrs. Randolph Graham would carry more weight socially than the widow known as "Kitty-Kitty" Wallace.

Women distrusted her, and with reason. Every husband in the group had at one moment or another bowed to her subtle charm. But not one could boast of this to put herself in a position where conquest, Kitty was too discreet.

To Release Ike's Reply To Soviet Message Today
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's May 9 letter on disarmament is to be released Saturday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Friday he hopes to make Eisenhower's reply public around 9 a.m., EST. He would not estimate the length of the note.

Hagerty on May 11 said Khrushchev's letter seemed to recognize the validity of the U.S. position that examination of the technical aspects of policing a suspension of nuclear tests should begin as soon as possible.

Stormy Marriage

By Vida Hurst

Chapter 16

The two young people were as modern as the two-colored car they were driving. David Wallace wasn't sure if they had seen each other since his father's death six years ago. Elsa thought they had, remembering a day he had called to deliver a gift from his mother but had refused to come in.

"I'm afraid it will be very lonely for her now. She needs me," he said. His eyes met hers daring her to deny it.

As if she didn't know that Kitty had no pride in being a mother. Her maternal instinct which would have cushioned the fall into middle-age was like a parachute which had failed to open. She had refused to respond to her son's "Mother" just as she had later to Elsa's "Aunt Kitty."

"But what shall I call you?" the 12-year-old girl had inquired.

"Why not just Kitty? I'm a friend not a relative." Kitty had suggested smiling. She had smiled frequently during those days. The first year after her husband's death she bloomed like an exotic flower. She had been in love with Elsa's father long before her husband died yet it had been Kitty's idea to marry Robert Wallace and he had reminded her of this during the numerous arguments which followed.

Kitty had denied any responsibility and both continued to "play the game," as Robert called it. He loved his wife in his own blundering way, but after his son was born she moved out of his heart, although for the boy's sake they continued to live in the same house. David had been sent to a military school in the east. His mother began her study of interior decorating for which she had a natural aptitude. Her husband had flown east several times to see his son, but Kitty did not accompany him.

Randy, Elsa's father, was Kitty's husband's best friend. This, of course, prevented him from responding to her subtle pursuit during Robert's lifetime. But after the funeral the situation became more romantic. They met for conferences until it became a habit—then a necessity. They belonged to the same group socially, and since most of the others were married it was customary to go to parties together. Then, since their respective children were not living at home, their relationship gradually deepened.

When David joined the navy, Kitty was delighted. The freedom she had longed for ever since her son's birth was hers. By the end of two years she and Randy would be married. Then at long last they could acknowledge the children. Randy would like David if he knew him better, Kitty had thought and Elsa, who had lost her mother the night of her birth, had developed into a lovely girl of 18.

Kitty had had it all figured out. Mrs. Randolph Graham would carry more weight socially than the widow known as "Kitty-Kitty" Wallace.

Women distrusted her, and with reason. Every husband in the group had at one moment or another bowed to her subtle charm. But not one could boast of this to put herself in a position where conquest. Kitty was too discreet.

To Release Ike's Reply To Soviet Message Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's May 9 letter on disarmament is to be released Saturday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Friday he hopes to make Eisenhower's reply public around 9 a.m., EST. He would not estimate the length of the note.

Hagerty on May 11 said Khrushchev's letter seemed to recognize the validity of the U.S. position that examination of the technical aspects of policing a suspension of nuclear tests should begin as soon as possible.

Still Optimistic Despite Big Drop

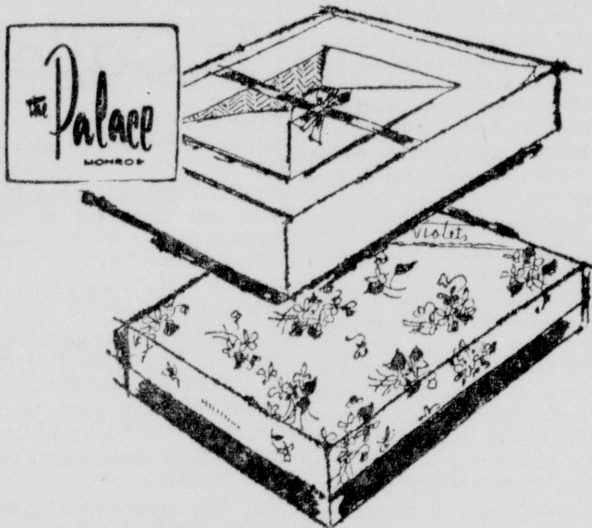

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Despite a 20 per cent drop in sales, General Motors President Harlow R. Curtis told stockholders Friday the firm sees only "optimism for our own future."

Curtis reported at the 50th annual meeting, with 3,000 stockholders crowded into the assembly plant here, that GM is "enjoying the best competitive position in our history."

He said that more people are buying General Motors' products than those of competitors, particularly automobiles, even though there is a sales and profit slump.

BLUFF CALLED
CHANDLER, Okla. (AP) — For 11 years, Mrs. Mildred McCoy, fourth grade teacher here, has promised she would stand on her head "if every student in my class makes 100 per cent on their grades for just one day."

It finally happened, and the students reminded her of the promise. The next day, she walked into the gym dressed in a pair of overalls, and stood on her head.

Baccalaureate Services Set At Northeast

The Very Rev. Monsignor John C. Marsh, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, will address the graduating class of Northeast State at the baccalaureate service on Sunday at 5 p.m. in Brown Auditorium.

Following the service, President and Mrs. Lewis C. Slater will honor graduates and their parents at a garden party from 6:15 to 7:15 at 221 Chauvin Avenue.

Participating in the baccalaureate program will be two members of the clergy in addition to Father Marsh. The Rev. Jaroy Weber, pastor of the First Baptist Church, West Monroe, will give the invocation and Dr. Ernest D. Holloway, Dean of men at Northeast, will offer the benediction.

The service will include special music by Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, organist, and numbers by the concert choir, with Lee Fliser directing. Both musicians are members of the Northeast fine art faculty.

Father Marsh, a native of Alexandria, came to Monroe in 1925 as assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church. He has been pastor since 1945.

He received both B.A. and M.A. degrees from St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore and the bachelor of sacred theology degree from Catholic University, Washington, D.C.

Accountants End Sessions

The Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants concluded a three-day meet in Monroe last night with a dinner dance in the Virginia Hotel Ballroom.

During the convention, the accountants heard technical papers read on recent developments in federal income taxation, accountant's fees and the future of accounting.

More than 175 members and their wives attended the convention.

first-degree murder charges or in Juvenile Court. Gaughan, who had pleaded insanity against the wishes of Starkweather, said he felt the slayer's execution was at least a year away. He said he would appeal to the state Supreme Court and that he felt there were constitutional grounds for taking an appeal to the federal courts and to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary.

Had the jury returned a verdict of insanity, Starkweather would have been committed at once to a state mental institution. He could have been freed later if necessary.

Incumbents Apparently Unopposed

As of last night it appeared almost certain that Fifth Congressional District Representative Otis E. Passman, and State Supreme Court Justice Frank W. Hawthorne, would be unopposed in the July 29 Democratic Primary.

Deadline for the qualification of candidates was 5 p.m. yesterday. No other candidates had qualified in person by that time. Qualifications may be sent by mail, but unless some unexpected application is received today postmarked earlier than 5 p.m. yesterday, the incumbents will be unopposed. Officials of the Fifth Congressional District Executive Committee reported last night that such an event was unlikely.

Rumors earlier had it that State Representative Lawrence Gibbs would enter the Congressional race. Gibbs squashed such reports last night by stating, "It's news to me." Gibbs added that many of his friends had asked him to run for Congress, but that right now, "I only want to be a good State Representative for the people of Ouachita Parish, and with the Legislature shaping the way it is, it looks like that might be a full, man size job."

The Ouachita Parish Democratic executive committee met yesterday and set the deadline for the qualifying of candidates to fill five places on the Ouachita Parish School Board. The Democratic Primary will be held on July 29.

Candidates may file with Burt Sperry, chairman of the parish executive committee, or the secretary of the group, Thomas M. Hayes, Jr. Sperry's office is in the Ouachita Bank Building. Hayes' is located in the Bernhardt Building.

Those members of the school board whose terms will expire are: Hugh Balfour, Ward Five; Marvin Shipp, Ward Four; E. M. Finley, Ward Six; C. P. Holloway, Ward Seven; and Wayne McDonald, Ward 10.

ruled sane, but Judge Harry Spencer said he felt such a course by the state board of examiners would have been extremely unlikely.

Gaughan was asked whether Starkweather would testify against the Fugate girl. "Who knows?" he replied. "Sometimes he says she will go down with him and at other times he tells us if we think he is going to testify against her, we are crazy."

Calls Verdict 'Proper'

County Atty. Elmer Scheele said, "it is a correct and proper verdict and one that just had to be. It was absolutely necessary for the protection of the community and the society. It took a courageous jury such as this one to meet its responsibility as good citizens."

Starkweather was found guilty specifically on two counts in the murder and robbery of 17-year-old Robert Jensen, whose body, along with that of the King girl, was found in a storm cave on an abandoned schoolyard.

The girl had been disrobed and an attempt had been made to ravish her.

Starkweather looked shaken Friday for the first time during the trial. He wore a green cotton shirt open at the collar and looked sweaty. He didn't have his customary chewing gum and the smirk was gone from his face, although he managed a few wan smiles.

His tiny red-haired mother was at his side at the defense table when the verdict was brought in. Shortly after it was announced, she rose and walked hurriedly to the privacy of the judge's chambers.

Charlie's father, Guy, arrived at the courtroom seconds after the jury returned the verdict.

Police Fill Courthouse

He said that he talked to Charles after the verdict and his son told him:

"I committed some of these crimes and if I want to make my atonement to God and be electrocuted, that's my business."

The 70-year-old Lancaster County courthouse was filled with police. They lined the corridors and the stairs as Charlie was led in a waist chain to the sheriff's car for the trip back to the penitentiary, where he will die.

The jury took as long as it did, one of its women members said, because "we think we read everything we could read in the evidence."

Starkweather's own confession ran hundreds of pages.

Another member of the jury said they had taken "less than a half dozen ballots but more than a few."

Citizens of this community had been astounded that the verdict was not returned sooner than it was, but the members disagreed at the outset on the sentence of execution or life imprisonment.

In Nebraska, the jury sets the sentence in a first-degree murder case.

10,000 head of cattle seriously affected.

This information was sent to the state disaster committee with a request for immediate inauguration of an emergency livestock feed program. The Caldwell committee will coordinate the requests for emergency assistance for farmers who have suffered from any type of disaster.

People of Caldwell Parish may apply to this committee at the Agricultural Office in Columbia. The committee also makes recommendations to state and federal officials regarding emergency requests resulting from floods.

Also in Columbia, the swift river currents halted attempts of four divers to recover the bodies of Clark Cadell Franklin and Thurman Roberts Franklin, who died Saturday when their car ripped through a barricade where the Ouachita River bridge was open to allow a barge to go through.

One diver reportedly had a close escape from death as he attempted to go to the bottom of the river. The divers, from the Navy, and the Coast Guard men who were assisting, all moved off the job when currents proved too strong. It was not known last night when any further attempts will be made.

However, Columbia officials are continuing a patrol of the river.

In Twin Cities

The rampage of the Ouachita in the Twin Cities appeared to be easing slightly yesterday, as no perceptible change was noted in the river reading between 7 a.m. yesterday and 4 p.m. The recording was 50.44 feet, topping the 1945 reading of 50.42.

The consensus of officials here last night was that the river was in the "cresting stage" now, with actual crest expected in the early hours of this morning.

The previously predicted crest of 51 feet has been ruled out, barring additional rains. The 7-block strip on South Grand was being protected by the sandbags as the first line of defense, and the emergency 6-foot "mud wall," which extends into the street.

Bell Witness Says Earning Much Too Low

BATON ROUGE (P)—A Southern Bell consultant testified Friday no wait can operate successfully on earnings proposed by Arnold Hirsch, star witness for the Louisiana Public Service Commission.

Dr. Ralph Badget, New York and Detroit investment and utility consultant, under cross examination, offered his views before the rate hearing adjourned.

Southern Bell hearings, in which the phone company seeks a seven-million-dollar emergency rate boost and other increases totaling up to 13 million, will continue May 28-29 in Alexandria.

Commission chairman Nat Knight, after Badget had testified the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. directors named Southern Bell's board, recalled phone testimony that Southern Bell was operated as a separate corporation.

"Dr. Badget," Knight said, "are you familiar with Aesop's Fable about the man who blew on his hands to warm them, and with the same breath blew on his soup to cool it?"

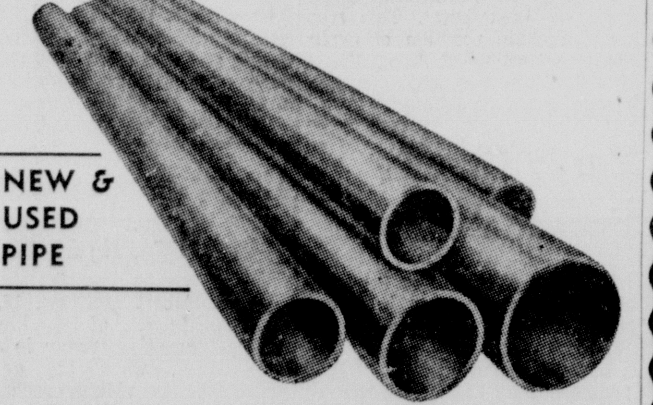

"All through this hearing," Knight continued, "the so-called independence of Southern Bell has been emphasized, and now you say AT&T names Southern Bell directors, and you advocate charging to Southern Bell the expenses incurred by AT&T in obtaining money to buy Southern Bell stock."

partment of Public Works and the Tensas Basin Levee Board made an inspection tour of the levees, sea walls and other defense measures in the Twin Cities yesterday, and reported everything in "good shape". The 131 National Guardsmen remain on patrol duty.

Operators of motor boats on flooded Bayou DeSiard here are posing a problem according to H. W. McSherry, Commissioner of Finance and Utilities. He said the boats knock up waves which are endangering the bayou dam at the city's water pumping station, and pointed out that if the dam should break, Monroe would face a crisis in its drinking water supply.

Motor boat enthusiasts are asked to refrain from using the bayou until the water recedes.

Winners Told In 2 Contests In Lincoln

RUSTON (Special)—Miss Diane Williams of Ruston, a senior at Ruston High School, was elected Miss Lincoln Parish in a contest last night at the Howard Auditorium.

Miss Mollie Jo Jeffcoat of Dubach, a sophomore at Louisian Tech, was runner-up, and Miss Billie Sue Lewis of Simsboro, Tech freshman, took third place. In the Miss Louisiana Tech contest, top honors were taken by Miss Lou Ann Locke of Shreveport, with Miss Suzie Acklin of Jonesboro in second place and Miss Joyce Kennedy of Farmerville taking third.

Miss Martha Harper of Monroe, Louisiana Tech student, was chosen Miss Congeniality and received a $25 award.

Miss Williams and Miss Locke each received a $150 scholarship to Tech, and a set of luggage. They both compete in the Miss Louisiana contest to be held in Lake Providence.

Receive Gifts
Miss Jeffcoat and Miss Acklin were each given a formal evening gown and Miss Acklin also received a cocktail dress.

Judges were Mrs. Jack Taylor, Arcadia, chairman of the Miss Bienville Parish contest; Miss Martha Lyns Shreveport recording artist; Pericles Alexander, Shreveport columnist; Harry Arthur of Monroe, and Mrs. Emmett Mitchell of Ruston, Mrs. Louisiana of 1956.

Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Jeanette Kimball of Ruston, Mrs. Louisiana of 1957.

A street parade was held yesterday afternoon, followed by a tea in the home of Mrs. K. D. Kilpatrick. The contests climaxed the activities.

He said a full investigation was under way and its outcome would be announced as soon as possible.

City Courts

MONROE

Twenty-six people appeared before Judge W. M. Harper in Monroe City Court yesterday. A total of $263 in fines and court costs were assessed for violations ranging from parking infractions to illegal use of weapons.

Offenses included two traffic violations, nine speeding, one running a stop sign, one running a red light, six reckless driving, one no drivers license, four drunks, one illegal use of weapons and one conviction for operating a vehicle with inoperative brakes.

Arthur Lewis, of 114 DeSiard Ave., was fined $350 or seven months in jail for the illegal use of a knife.

WEST MONROE

Larry Heath, 20, of 707 Splane Dr., West Monroe, paid $305.50 on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages, when West Monroe City Court met yesterday.

One person was fined $30 or 25 days on a charge of disturbing the peace, and another paid $50.50 on a speeding charge.

Three persons each forfeited $5.00 bonds on charges of running a red light.

The two young people were as modern as the two-colored car they were driving. David Wallace wasn't sure if they had seen each other since his father's death six years ago. Elsa thought they had, remembering a day he had called to deliver a gift from his mother but had refused to come in.

"I'm afraid it will be very lonely for her now. She needs me," he said. His eyes met hers daring her to deny it.

As if she didn't know that Kitty had no pride in being a mother. Her maternal instinct which would have cushioned the fall into middle age was like a parachute which had failed to open. She had refused to respond to her son's "Mother," just as she had later to Elsa's "Aunt Kitty."

"But what shall I call you?" the 12-year-old girl had inquired. "Why not just Kitty? I'm a friend not a relative," Kitty had suggested smiling. She had smiled frequently during those days. The first year after her husband's death she bloomed like an exotic flower. She had been in love with Elsa's father long before her husband died yet it had been Kitty's idea to marry Robert Wallace and he had reminded her of this during the numerous arguments which followed.

Kitty had denied any responsibility and both continued to "play the game," as Robert called it. He loved his wife in his own blundering way, but after his son was born she moved out of his heart, although for the boy's sake they continued to live in the same house. David had been sent to a military school in the east. His mother began her study of interior decorating for which she had a natural aptitude. Her husband had flown east several times to see his son, but Kitty did not accompany him.

Randy, Elsa's father, was Kitty's husband's best friend. This, of course, prevented him from responding to her subtle pursuit during Robert's lifetime. But after the funeral the situation became more romantic. They met for conferences until it became a habit—then a necessity. They belonged to the same group socially, and since most of the others were married it was customary to go to parties together. Then, since their respective children were not living at home, their relationship gradually deepened.

When David joined the navy, Kitty was delighted. The freedom she had longed for ever since her son's birth was hers. By the end of two years she and Randy would be married. Then at long last they could acknowledge the children. Randy would like David if he knew him better. Kitty had thought and Elsa, who had lost her mother the night of her birth, had developed into a lovely girl of 18.

Kitty had had it all figured out. Mrs. Randolph Graham would carry more weight socially than the widow known as "Kitty-Kitty" Wallace.

Women distrusted her, and with reason. Every husband in the group had at one moment or another bowed to her subtle charm. But not one could boast of this to put herself in a position where conquest. Kitty was too discreet.

To Release Ike's Reply To Soviet Message Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's reply to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's May 9 letter on disarmament is to be released Saturday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen Friday he hopes to make Eisenhower's reply public around 9 a.m., EST. He would not estimate the length of the note.

Hagerty on May 11 said Khrushchev's letter seemed to recognize the validity of the U.S. position that examination of the technical aspects of policing a suspension of nuclear tests should begin as soon as possible.

Still Optimistic Despite Big Drop

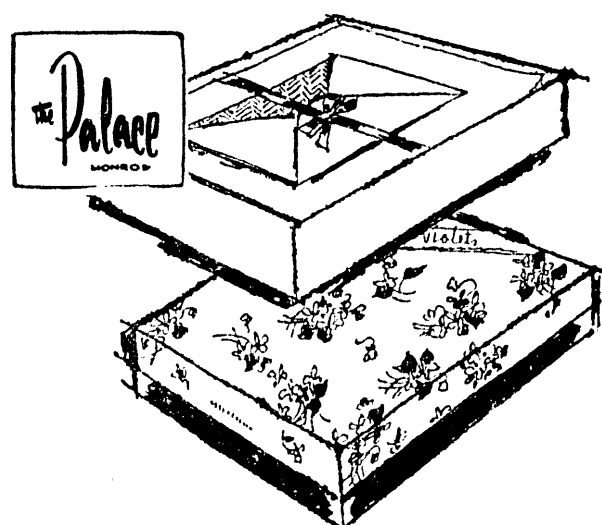

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Despite a 20 per cent drop in sales, General Motors President Harlow R. Curtis told stockholders Friday the firm sees only "optimism for our own future."

Curtis reported at the 50th annual meeting, with 3,000 stockholders crowded into the assembly plant here, that GM is "enjoying the best competitive position in our history."

He said that more people are buying General Motors' products than those of competitors, particularly automobiles, even through there is a sales and profit slump.

BLUFF CALLED
CHANDLER, Okla. (AP)—For 11 years, Mrs. Mildred McCoy, fourth grade teacher here, has promised she would stand on her head "if every student in my class makes 100 per cent on their grades for just one day."

It finally happened, and the students reminded her of the promise. The next day, she walked into the gym dressed in a pair of overalls, and stood on her head.

Passman's Candidacy

The recent announcement of Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman that he had filed as a candidate for re-election met with the most favorable kind of reaction from his constituents.

Date for the Democratic primary to nominate a candidate for this office has been tentatively set for July 29. So far there are no other announced candidates and there appears to be a strong probability that the congressman from this district will have no opposition.

Congressman Passman was first elected to the 80th congress in 1946. Since a congressman must be re-elected every two years, he is seeking his seventh term. Now ranking 14th from the top in point of seniority on the powerful 50-member appropriations committee, Congressman Passman has achieved national legislative influence and power during his period in office. He is chairman of one appropriations subcommittee and vice-chairman of two others.

In his fourth year as chairman of the foreign operations appropriations subcommittee, he has come to be recognized as the congressional leader in reducing United States spending for foreign aid. Last year, in the face of intense presidential and congressional opposition, he spearheaded the fight which resulted finally in slashing a billion dollars from the foreign aid budget. He talked so convincingly that even President Eisenhower was impressed by his earnestness and by his ability to size up the situation accurately.

An advocate of sound economic principles and practices in government, Congressman Passman is acknowledged to be a leading congressional specialist in federal affairs. The amount of personal knowledge that the congressman possesses on these matters is said to be amazing.

Agricultural legislation, particularly with respect to measures affecting the cotton farmer, and actions for development of the lower Mississippi valley flood control and major drainage programs, including rivers and harbors improvement, also receive his special attention in congress. Two years ago he was cited for his outstanding contributions to flood control and related work by the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association. He has served as president of that organization for three years.

At present Congressman Passman is devoting his great energies toward the passage of legislation designed to help farmers in flooded areas. He is seeking enactment of a bill which would provide that farmers who were the victims of natural disasters and who had thus lost their assigned crop acreage—as is now true in the flooded northeast Louisiana area—would be permitted to substitute acreage on other parts of their farms or on other farms for that made unusable by the disaster.

Actively affiliated with the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau, this year Congressman Passman received that group's special award for having performed the "most outstanding service" to agriculture in the northeast Louisiana area.

It is doubtful if there is any man in congress who is better informed on the farm situation, on the farmers' problems and on the question of selling this country's farm products to other nations than is Congressman Passman. He may not have all the answers to all of the farm problems but it is doubtful if any man could do a better job than he in solving those problems if given the opportunity.

It may be truthfully said that few men are able to devote more energy to a cause, that few have greater insight and that few will work more conscientiously for what he believes to be best than the present congressman for the fifth district of Louisiana.

Caracas, Little Rock

In a questions and answers session before the National Press in Washington Vice-President Richard Nixon was quoted as saying he attributed the attacks made on him in Caracas, Venezuela, partly to the Little Rock situation. He said he thought the action of Governor Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas in the integration squabble had aroused some animosity in other countries.

It is hard to conceive of any way in which the vice-president could have made a more inept or a more apparently untrue statement than to blame the Caracas attacks on the Little Rock affair.

At the time the Caracas attacks occurred no stories carried any mention of the Little Rock dispute. They did not quote any of the attackers as mentioning that situation. They did quote them as saying, "Go home, Yankee dog!"

Mr. Nixon got his fingers badly burned for his part in precipitating the invasion of Little Rock by federal troops. There were many who thought he, and not the president, was the prime mover behind the order to send in the troops. The whole thing backfired so badly that Mr. Nixon had not publicly mentioned it since. It is a wonder he would mention it now.

If the Venezuelans were enraged over the Little Rock situation the onus would be more on Mr. Nixon's head than if the attacks were caused by the simple fact that other countries don't like United States interference, which is probably the real reason. Mr. Nixon came out of the Caracas fiasco with the backing of the United States citizenship generally and he would do well to let it go at that.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

France Still Afraid Of Another Napoleon

The social and political revolution in Europe and in the Western world, since the French Revolution, has been to find a method of government in which the whole nation would exercise the right of choice and at the same time avoid anarchy.

The French Revolution failed because of Napoleonism. France has never been able to overcome its fear of another Napoleon. Again and again, military leaders arose to lead France to glory but the French people have resisted the temptation. France's curious form of government, proportional representation with multiple parties, is a product of the fear of Napoleonism—a fear which has been aggravated by the emergence of dictators subsequent to World War I—Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin, Franco, to mention only the important ones.

It is for this reason that De Gaulle has been feared. Ordinarily De Gaulle would have been regarded as one of France's great heroes. His maintenance of a French government in exile during World War II, his rebuilding of the French army while the war was in process; his rejection of the blandishments of Vichy; his insistence that conquered France must be regarded as a primary power and given equality of treatment with the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia—these were heroic acts. But he was not invited to Yalta because he had irritated Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, who had found him temperamentally difficult to work with. Churchill said that De Gaulle suffered from an inferiority complex. At any rate, it would have been impossible to save any part of Germany if De Gaulle had governed France during the postwar period.

At the end of the war, De Gaulle had been elected the head of the Provisional Government of France with the unanimous confidence of the French people. But he could not last. When De Gaulle fell, he retired sulking to his country home. France was trying during 1945 to write a new constitution which De Gaulle opposed. As a matter of fact, the reason that proportional representation and multiple parties continued in France is that De Gaulle's opposition to a reasonable constitution in 1946 forced the people to take sides on the constitutional question and out of fear of Napoleonism, they voted De Gaulle down. The Communist Party, under the leadership of Thorez, took advantage of the fear of Napoleonism to run an anti-Fascist campaign which gave them enormous power in France. In the election of November 10, 1946, the Communists won 163 seats—a gain of 18 seats. De Gaulle's unfriendliness to

Slouch May Call For Correction

Posture in children and teenagers is affected by a number of factors, including muscular but he still does it. How can we strength, the constitution, and psychological states. Temporary alterations occur, depending upon how the boy or girl feels. The youngster with round shoulders one month may win the Oscar for good posture the next.

The child with faulty posture deserves more than critical remarks. "Stand straight," "Throw back your shoulders," or "Don't slouch." X-rays of the spine may reveal an abnormality of the vertebral column that is causing the back to curve to one side or bow to the front or back. These children need skilled care to correct the deformity — and the earlier, the better.

When there is no bony defect, the most likely cause is postural weakness. Such children need training in walking and sitting as well as exercises to strengthen the trunk muscles. Calisthenics, gymnastics, and swimming are excellent for this purpose. Fatigue must be avoided by insisting upon adequate rest. A nourishing diet helps health. Occasionally there is a psychological factor. The child walks like an old man because of depression, worry, or guilt. He straightens up as soon as the cares of the world are removed from his shoulders.

School children are not always influenced by their parents but teachers, coaches, and friends often can motivate them to sit, stand, and walk tall. A hint here and there works wonders.

There is no doubt that a correlation exists between good posture, the sense of well-being, certain diseases, and the length of life. In general, the individual with an excellent stance has fewer defects, enjoys better health, lives longer, and is able to resist the physical and chemical assaults by setting the line of vision higher than the body when walking.

LITTLE VAGABOND
Mrs. W. writes: We have tried the British for two years have had the idea of artificially building up France into a strong power which would have 200,000 troops on the eastern border of France to hold the line for the period required to assemble a strong British army. He said the British were a peculiar people and wished to have their cake and eat it too.

Then this occurred: "Marshal Stalin inquired whether the President thought France should have a zone of occupation, and for what reason." The President said he thought it was not a bad idea, but he added that it was only out of kindness. "Both Marshal Stalin and Mr. Molotov spoke up vigorously and said that would be the only reason to give France a zone." Politically De Gaulle was faced by what looked like humiliation for France.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Atheist Teacher Upsets Students

Paul's problem is matched thousands of times in our grade schools. So scrapbook this case. Also, look upon physicians and dentists as God's helpers. They assist in giving us the more abundant life we should all enjoy. Remember, too, that use (function) produces keener vision and hearing, so wear your glasses and hearing aids! Case Y-317: Paul R., aged 12, is a brilliant boy but he has a common problem. "Dr. Crane, Paul needs eye glasses," his worried mother exclaimed. "The teacher told me she thought Paul couldn't see well, and advised us to have his eyes tested."

"We did, and the doctor says Paul has myopia. He also says he has only 75 per cent vision in one eye and barely 10 per cent in the other."

"Why should Paul need glasses when my husband and I never had to wear them? Nor do our other five children require them. And how can Paul get over his myopia? What is it and what causes it?"

Eye Tests For Kids
Myopia is nearsightedness. It is often present at birth, though it may not be recognized till later, as in Paul's case.

Some children have large eyeballs which, in the case of girls, often makes them more beautiful. But these eyeballs may be slightly longer in their diameter, so the lens focuses the image just in front of the retina of the eye. It thus requires a glass lens (spectacles) to offset this condition and throw the image directly on the retina so the child can see clearly.

There is no successful remedy for myopia except properly fitted eye glasses, so don't gamble with quack schemes or otherwise waste your child's chance at a richer knowledge of this world's beauty by letting him go through school only half seeing!

"But my child has normal vision in one eye," many a parent may protest, "so why should he wear glasses just because his other eye has only 10 per cent or maybe 25 per cent vision?" That's a logical question, I shall give you the logical medical reply.

Exercise of organs, as well as glands and muscles, seem to improve their vigor, strength or sensitivity.

On the contrary, if you fail to use one arm but tie it to your side, the muscles will actually shrink in size and atrophy from disuse. They will grow weaker, almost to the point of extinction. The same thing is true of the sensitive retina at the back of each eyeball.

Unless the eyes are balanced, the child tends to favor the good eye and ignore the weaker one. Thus, if a boy has 100 per cent vision in one eye and 50 per cent in the other, he becomes one-eyed, unless he employs properly fitted eyeglasses.

That 100 per cent eye gets used exclusively. It still remains at 100 per cent. But what happens to the 50 per cent eye?

Well, disuse causes the blood vessels in the retina thereof to shrink. The retina then gets less nourishment, so it grows progressively blinder.

Soon the vision will drop from 50 per cent to 40 per cent and then to 30 per cent, etc., until it finally becomes almost totally blind, JUST FROM DISUSE.

So an eye doctor prescribes glasses which will balance the eyes. He brings that 50 per cent eye back up to 100 per cent by means of spectacles.

Then the child will rely on BOTH eyes. And this constant use will actually improve the vision in the poor eye, so it may require weaker glasses on future eye tests.

Hearing, too, grows poorer if older folks fail to wear hearing aids and thus nurture their 50 per cent or 75 per cent of residual hearing by constant use.

It doesn't pay, therefore, to do without eye glasses or hearing aids!

God expects physicians and dentists to help us enjoy the more abundant life. So don't let your children or your grandparents stumble along in 50 per cent darkness or with only 40 per cent hearing when modern aids can bring them back up to the 100 per cent point.

You are failing to team-up with God Almighty when you don't help Him give your child better vision, better hearing and better health.

SYLVIA PORTER

President's Talk Is Called Vague

"Operation Bafflegab" was a triumphant success Tuesday evening, May 20th — during the half-hour the President of the United States was delivering his major economic policy speech of the year in New York City.

Maybe the speech had been made only before the couple of thousand top tycoons attending the American Management Association's Economic Mobilization Conference, it might have been an acceptable presentation of the Administration's views on the recession. Maybe.

But this speech was given a terrific advance build-up. It was carried by every leading TV and radio network into the homes of tens of millions of us. You — not the business leaders — were President Eisenhower's audience. And judging from the reactions of every man and woman I've queried, I'll wager that after the address was over, millions of us turned to each other in bewilderment and disappointment and asked: "What did he say?"

Here is my serious effort to translate the generalities, specifics, evasions, hints and warnings into your language and mine.

First, far more important than what the President said is what he did not say.

He did not say the recession is over and business is turning up.

His prepared comments on the business downturn this week were much more restrained than his off-the-cuff remarks at press conferences in recent months. He said the downturn is slowing. And of course it is; it isn't slowing in this spring season, we'd be in a terrifying slump. He said that, "Much of the adjustment which a free economy experiences from time to time has already occurred." Of course it has, for the 1957-58 recession already is the deepest and most prolonged of the postwar era; it's just reasonable to believe much of the downturn is behind us.

The President indefinitely backed away from timing the date of the next upswing. In this case, he was much more cautious than the overwhelming majority of the businessmen in the audience. Most of them wouldn't hesitate to say publicly that we'll be starting at least a slow comeback before 1958 ends.

He did not close the door on tax cuts and, in fact, he kept the door wide open. This section of his address was the acme of doubletalk — with the result that you can draw any conclusion you want from his sentences about taxation. Not once in the 198 words he devoted to tax policy did he use the words "tax cuts." Instead, he spoke in terms of tax "improvements," tax "equity," tax "simplification."

Any of these words can be synonyms for tax "reductions."

But I found it significant that he didn't go into detail on the long-term inflationary danger of huge deficits now, and he did admit that tax-cutting decisions must be reached very soon. When extension of current excise and corporation tax rates comes up next month, I still think special tax reductions will be voted.

He did not give the nation a bold, positive program for hastening the upturn, spurring expansion and increasing jobs.

I polled dozens of businessmen in the audience after the speech, dozens of Wall Streeters the following day. This failure of the President to come up with anything new as what disappointed every one of them most. Even if they had violently disapproved of a suggestion, those I queried indicated they would have preferred this to the generalities they heard.

What did he say, then? He emphasized that the government can't "take all the bumps out of the road of business" and we shouldn't expect it to.

He warned business and labor to get together on price-wage policies that will end the cost of living upsurge or run the risk that price-conscious consumers will rebel and remind business and labor leaders in "clear and painful" ways that the consumer is King.

He made it quite apparent throughout his speech that the underlying concern of the Administration remains inflation.

He urged businessmen to be the bold ones and to grab today's challenge by creating new products, better values, etc.

He said that when this "pause or recession" is over, we'll move to new peaks and our long-term future is spectacularly bright.

This was the substance to me of what was billed as the key economic policy speech of the 1958 recession. I confess: I feel so let down, I guess, because this time I expected something really solid.

Passman's Candidacy

The recent announcement of Fifth District Congressman Otto E. Passman that he had filed as a candidate for re-election met with the most favorable kind of reaction from his constituents.

Date for the Democratic primary to nominate a candidate for this office has been tentatively set for July 29. So far there are no other announced candidates and there appears to be a strong probability that the congressman from this district will have no opposition.

Congressman Passman was first elected to the 80th congress in 1946. Since a congressman must be re-elected every two years, he is seeking his seventh term. Now ranking 14th from the top in point of seniority on the powerful 50-member appropriations committee, Congressman Passman has achieved national legislative influence and power during his period in office. He is chairman of one appropriations subcommittee and vice-chairman of two others.

In his fourth year as chairman of the foreign operations appropriations subcommittee, he has come to be recognized as the congressional leader in reducing United States spending for foreign aid. Last year, in the face of intense presidential and congressional opposition, he spearheaded the fight which resulted finally in slashing a billion dollars from the foreign aid budget. He talked so convincingly that even President Eisenhower was impressed by his earnestness and by his ability to size up the situation accurately.

An advocate of sound economic principles and practices in government, Congressman Passman is acknowledged to be a leading congressional specialist in federal affairs. The amount of personal knowledge that the congressman possesses on these matters is said to be amazing.

Agricultural legislation, particularly with respect to measures affecting the cotton farmer, and actions for development of the lower Mississippi valley flood control and major drainage programs, including rivers and harbors improvement, also receive his special attention in congress. Two years ago he was cited for his outstanding contributions to flood control and related work by the Mississippi Valley Flood Control Association. He has served as president of that organization for three years.

At present Congressman Passman is devoting his great energies toward the passage of legislation designed to help farmers in flooded areas. He is seeking enactment of a bill which would provide that farmers who were the victims of natural disasters and who had thus lost their assigned crop acreage—as is now true in the flooded northeast Louisiana area—would be permitted to substitute acreage on other parts of their farms or on other farms for that made unusable by the disaster.

Actively affiliated with the Ouachita Parish Farm Bureau, this year Congressman Passman received that group's special award for having performed the "most outstanding service" to agriculture in the northeast Louisiana area.

It is doubtful if there is any man in congress who is better informed on the farm situation, on the farmers' problems and on the question of selling this country's farm products to other nations than is Congressman Passman. He may not have all the answers to all of the farm problems but it is doubtful if any man could do a better job than he in solving those problems if given the opportunity.

It may be truthfully said that few men are able to devote more energy to a cause, that few have greater insight and that few will work more conscientiously for what he believes to be best than the present congressman for the fifth district of Louisiana.

Caracas, Little Rock

In a questions and answers session before the National Press in Washington Vice-President Richard Nixon was quoted as saying he attributed the attacks made on him in Caracas, Venezuela, partly to the Little Rock situation. He said he thought the action of Governor Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas in the integration squabble had aroused some animosity in other countries.

It is hard to conceive of any way in which the vice-president could have made a more inept or a more apparently untrue statement than to blame the Caracas attacks on the Little Rock affair.

At the time the Caracas attacks occurred no stories carried any mention of the Little Rock dispute. They did not quote any of the attackers as mentioning that situation. They did quote them as saying, "Go home, Yankee dog!"

Mr. Nixon got his fingers badly burned for his part in precipitating the invasion of Little Rock by federal troops. There were many who thought he, and not the president, was the prime mover behind the order to send in the troops. The whole thing backfired so badly that Mr. Nixon had not publicly mentioned it since. It is a wonder he would mention it now.

If the Venezuelans were enraged over the Little Rock situation the onus would be more on Mr. Nixon's head than if the attacks were caused by the simple fact that other countries don't like United States interference, which is probably the real reason. Mr. Nixon came out of the Caracas fiasco with the backing of the United States citizenship generally and he would do well to let it go at that.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

France Still Afraid Of Another Napoleon

The social and political revolution in Europe and in the Western world, since the French Revolution, has been to find a method of government in which the whole nation would exercise the right of choice and at the same time avoid anarchy.

The French Revolution failed because of Napoleonism. France has never been able to overcome its fear of another Napoleon. Again and again, military leaders arose to lead France to glory but the French people have resisted the temptation. France's curious form of government, proportional representation with multiple parties, is a product of the fear of Napoleonism—a fear which has been aggravated by the emergence of dictators subsequent to World War I—Mussolini, Hitler, Stalin, Franco, to mention only the important ones.

It is for this reason that De Gaulle has been feared. Ordinarily De Gaulle would have been regarded as one of France's great heroes. His maintenance of a French government in exile during World War II; his rebuilding of the French army while the war was in process; his rejection of the blandishments of Vichy; his insistence that conquered France must be regarded as a primary power and given equality of treatment with the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia—these were heroic acts. But he was not invited to Yalta because he had irritated Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, who had found him temperamentally difficult to work with. Churchill said that De Gaulle suffered from an inferiority complex. At any rate, it would have been impossible to save any part of Germany if De Gaulle had governed France during the postwar period.

At the end of the war, De Gaulle had been elected the head of the Provisional Government of France with the unanimous confidence of the French people. But he could not last. When De Gaulle felt he retired sulking to his country home, France was trying during 1945 to write a new constitution which De Gaulle opposed. As a matter of fact, the reason that proportional representation and multiple parties continued in France is that De Gaulle's opposition to a reasonable constitution in 1946 forced the people to take sides on the constitutional question and out of fear of Napoleonism, they voted De Gaulle down. The Communist Party, under the leadership of Thorez, took advantage of the fear of Napoleonism to run an anti-Fascist campaign which gave them enormous power in France. In the election of November 10, 1946, the Communists won 163 seats—a gain of 18 seats. De Gaulle's unfriendliness to President Roosevelt arose from the unwillingness of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin to have De Gaulle at Yalta. Roosevelt had declined De Gaulle's invitation to visit him in Paris and instead proposed that De Gaulle visit Roosevelt in Algiers, which De Gaulle declined. De Gaulle was also not invited to the Potsdam conference. This conversation took place between Stalin and Roosevelt at Yalta and is reported by Charles Bohlen in the official archives.

"Marshal Stalin replied that he had not found De Gaulle a very complicated person, but he felt he was unrealistic in the sense that France had not done very much fighting in this war and De Gaulle demanded full rights with the Americans, British and Russians who had done the burden of the fighting.

"The President then described his conversation with De Gaulle in Casablanca two years ago when De Gaulle compared himself with Joan of Arc as the spiritual leader of France and with Clemenceau as the political leader."

President Roosevelt then did something he should not have done. Bohlen reports:

"The President said he would now tell the Marshall something indiscreet, since he would not wish to say it in front of Prime Minister Churchill, namely that

He said the British were a peculiar people and wished to have their cake and eat it too."

Then this occurred:

"Marshal Stalin inquired whether the President thought France should have a zone of occupation, and for what reason.

"The President said he thought it was not a bad idea, but he added that it was only out of kindness."

"Both Marshal Stalin and Mr. Molotov spoke up vigorously and said that would be the only reason to give France a zone."

Politically De Gaulle was faced by what looked like humiliation for France.

His Keeping Rules Out Luck

Dulles' 'Second Thinking' May Spring From Brother

WASHINGTON, D. C. — In the Barrie play, "What Every Woman Knows," a politician gains credit for wise and clever afterthoughts. It turns out that they are his wife's ideas.

Well, there's another family story in Washington which is said to be spinning a plot. The present-day afterthoughts by Secretary John Foster Dulles on "Flexibility" in the Middle East are said to be the product of his brother, Allen Dulles, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Without insisting too much upon which came first, the Secretary or the Director, something very clearly has hatched in our attitude toward Egyptian President Nasser. Secretary Dulles is the fellow who gave Nasser the In-jun-gift treatment by snatching away the promised aid to build the Aswan Dam. Again, it was John Foster Dulles who went along with our British and French allies in giving Nasser the cold front—freezing his funds, cutting him off from public aid and private charity, even steering tourists away from Egyptian bazaars.

But all this suddenly changed. Allen Dulles is thought to be one of the reasons, perhaps the prime one. The CIA Director for some time has been studying a tactical shift in the Russian policy against the West. Speaking recently before the Chamber of Commerce convention in Washington, Allen Dulles laid his findings on the line. He gave statistics which showed the Russian industrial economy to be moving in several planes. First, it is growing faster than the American economy. Second, it is establishing trade markets within the Western alliance. Third, it is making "an investment in disorder" throughout the Middle East.

Allen Dulles called attention to the tiny kingdom of Yemen. This nation of merely four million backward people stands at the entrance to the Red Sea from the Gulf of Aden, thus commanding one entrance to the Suez Canal. Yemen has received $80 million in Soviet credits to buy arms and military equipment, far more than it needs for self defense.

This background of penetration is not new. But it was vigorously and significantly stated by one Dulles, and reacted to by another. The Secretary of State has relaxed the stern visage which he presented to Nasser for some two years. The Egyptian bank credits have been released, Federal aid and private charity resume their flow, the Aswan Dam is back in official conversation. All these, however, are but outward signs of a fundamental change in the Secretary's attitude toward foreign affairs.

First, there is a new relationship toward Britain and France. Hitherto, wisely or otherwise, we have deferred to French and British feelings toward Egypt. Both were deeply involved in Egypt and adamantly opposed to the Nasser Government. But now Nasser is going to spend some American unfrozen funds in paying off former owners of the Suez Canal, which he seized. In our negotiations with Egypt, or so an informed person tells me, Britain was "consulted" but France was "notified." Both verbs indicate American initiative, though with important differences in degree.

The Secretary's second thoughts about the Middle East suffer the disadvantage of their nature. It would have been far better had he done these things first rather than last. Still, it is better to have done them last than not at all. Like the hero of Barrie's play, he improves with his afterthoughts.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Atheist Teacher Upsets Students

Paul's problem is matched thousands of times in our grade schools. So scrapbook this case. Also, look upon physicians and dentists as God's helpers. They assist in giving us the more abundant life we should all enjoy. Remember, too, that use (function) produces keener vision and hearing, so wear your glasses and hearing aids!

Case Y-317. Paul R., aged 12, is a brilliant boy but he has a common problem. Paul needs eye glasses. "The teacher told me she thought Paul couldn't see well, and advised us to have his eyes tested."

"We did, and the doctor says Paul has myopia. He also says he has only 75 per cent vision in one eye and barely 10 per cent in the other."

"Why should Paul need glasses when my husband and I never had to wear them? Nor do our other five children require them. And how can Paul get over his myopia? What is it and what causes it?"

Eye Tests For Kids
Myopia is nearsightedness. It is often present at birth, though it may not be recognized till later, as in Paul's case.

Some children have large eyeballs which, in the case of girls, often makes them more beautiful. But these eyeballs may be slightly longer in their diameter, so the lens focuses the image just in front of the retina of the eye.

It thus requires a glass lens (spectacles) to offset this condition and throw the image directly on the retina so the child can see clearly.

There is no successful remedy for myopia except properly fitted eye glasses, so don't gamble with quack schemes or otherwise waste your child's chance at a richer knowledge of this world's beauty by letting him go through school only half seeing!

"But my child has normal vision in one eye," many a parent may protest, "so why should he wear glasses just because his other eye has only 10 per cent or maybe 25 per cent vision?" That's a logical question, so I shall give you the logical medical reply.

Exercise of organs, as well as glands and muscles, seem to improve their vigor, strength or sensitivity.

On the contrary, if you fail to use one arm but tie it to your side, the muscles will actually shrink in size and atrophy from disuse. They will grow weaker, almost to the point of extinction.

The same thing is true of the sensitive retina at the back of each eyeball.

Unless the eyes are balanced, the child tends to favor the good eye and ignore the weaker one.

Thus, if a boy has 100 per cent vision in one eye and 50 per cent in the other, he becomes one-eyed, unless he employs properly fitted eyeglasses.

That 100 per cent eye gets used exclusively. It still remains at 100 per cent. But what happens to the 50 per cent eye?

Well, disuse causes the blood vessels in the retina thereof to shrink. The retina then gets less nourishment, so it grows progressively blinder.

Soon the vision will drop from 50 per cent to 40 per cent and then to 30 per cent, etc., until it finally becomes almost totally blind, JUST FROM DISUSE.

So an eye doctor prescribes glasses which will balance the eyes. He brings that 50 per cent eye back up to 100 per cent by means of spectacles.

Then the child will rely on BOTH eyes. And this constant use will actually improve the vision in the poor eye, so it may require weaker glasses on future eye tests.

Hearing, too, grows poorer if older folks fail to wear hearing aids and thus nurture their 50 per cent or 75 per cent of residual hearing by constant use.

It doesn't pay, therefore, to do without eye glasses or hearing aids!

God expects physicians and dentists to help us enjoy the more abundant life. So don't let your children or your grandparents stumble along in 50 per cent darkness or with only 40 per cent hearing when modern aids can bring them back up to the 100 per cent point.

You are failing to team-up with God Almighty when you don't help Him give your child better vision, better hearing and better health.

President's Talk Is Called Vague

"Operation Bafflegab" was a triumphant success Tuesday evening, May 20th — during the half-hour the President of the United States was delivering his major economic policy speech of the year in New York City.

Maybe if the speech had been made only before the couple of thousand top tycoons attending the American Management Association's Economic Mobilization Conference, it might have been an acceptable presentation of the Administration's views on the recession. Maybe . . .

LSU Board Meets La. Board Today

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana State University's board of supervisors and the State Board of Education get together Saturday for a third round of peace talks.

This time they are set to get down to cases on the main source of their feud—graduate study.

A six-member joint committee headed by LSU board member Mrs. Ella V. Schwing of Plaquemine will report on its study of graduate programs at state colleges compared with the same courses at LSU.

The committee was directed at an April 18 meeting to determine whether there was enough demand to profitably offer the courses at the state colleges.

The dispute popped up last December when the education board voted to expand graduate programs at three state colleges. LSU took the position it should be center of graduate study in Louisiana, arguing it would be a waste of money and lead to low academic standards to try to offer graduate work at all state colleges.

The two boards met last Feb.

Sidney Gill President Of City Alumni

Sidney Gill last night was named president of the Monroe City School alumni association at annual banquet held on the roof of the Hotel Frances. Gill succeeds Frank Breese.

Other officers named at the banquet included Mrs. Sue Graves Stubbs, Mrs. Babbette Krauss Dornberg, and Berry Yeldell, vice president; and Mrs. Dorothy Applegate Hodge, permanent secretary-treasurer.

Approximately 400 alumni members of the 1938 graduating class and friends of the school system attended the meeting at which time Mrs. Jennie Belle Weeks Trousdale, (Mrs. James H. Trousdale Sr.) was named the Outstanding Mother of the Year. Mrs. Trousdale, who was presented the corsage by last year's honoree, Mrs. McGee, was a graduate of the class of 1888. She was the first graduate of the first class ever to leave the old Monroe City High School. Four other persons make up the class.

Breese said that the first recipient of the E. L. Neville Scholarship award will be announced at the graduating exercises of Neville High. The recipient will be a person who has dedicated himself to the field of education.

Entertainment for the occasion was provided by the Centenary College choir of Shreveport, which sang selections from "My Fair Lady," "Oklahoma" and several religious songs in addition to the all-time favorite of those who have heard the group, "Dry Bones."

Votes Counted; Lakeshore Wants Street Lights

Members of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury met yesterday to promulgate votes on a street lighting program for Ouachita Parish lighting district number one.

M. W. Montgomery, police jury president, explained that residents in the Lakeshore addition held a property vote recently to see whether or not residents were interested in taking steps to obtain street lights.

The jury then promulgated the votes and reported the lights went over by a large majority.

Getting money for the lights will be the next step in the program.

Session Set In Fine Arts At Northeast

Featured in summer school activities at Northeast State will be a session in fine arts for junior and senior high school students, Dean Harry M. Lemert announced yesterday.

The fine arts session will open with registration on June 18 and extend through July 3.

Applications for admission to the session may be obtained from public school music teachers or from the Department of Fine Arts at Northeast. Applications must be returned to the college by June 11.

Carrying out a program similar to offerings in former summer schools here, the high school feature will emphasize concentrated work in music, art and speech. Music students will be offered private instruction on instruments as well as playing experiences in small and large instrumental ensembles.

A popular feature, Dean Lemert explained, will be work in art whereby students will be given instruction in painting, drawing, modeling, ceramics and other related activities.

The speech-drama division will include play production, television, radio, oral reading and oral interpretation.

An organized recreational program is designed to give students opportunity to enjoy a variety of entertainment. Leaders of the regular fine arts faculty will instruct.

Students will have newly completed and air conditioned facilities in which to work this summer, the Fine Arts Dean said.

Bank Woman Sees Chance For Renown

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Miss Iweta Miller, president of the National Assn. of Bank Women, said Friday opportunities are as good for women in banking as men, but it takes more time and harder work for a woman to receive recognition.

Miss Miller, of Houston, Tex., said in an interview several banking schools are accepting women students.

She will speak tomorrow night to a banquet meeting of the Southern Regional Bank Women.

She said 11 women bankers are enrolled in the School of Banking of the South at Baton Rouge for the next session. Her group, she said, has 2,333 members.

Miss Nancy K. Blakely, Charlotte, N. C., told a panel at the opening session of the regional meeting that job trading is valuable in banking.

Marriage Laws To Be Loosened, Miss. Man Says

LELAND, Miss. (AP)—Rep. Hilton Waits of Washington County predicted Thursday that the recently tightened marriage laws would be loosened after they become effective July 1.

"I feel the new marriage license law went too far," Waits told the Lions Club. "We just abolished common law marriages three years ago. We added a waiting period and blood test (in 1937) and states which have done both together have got into trouble."

The stiffer marriage laws, sponsored by Rep. John Kennedy of Marshall County, were made effective July 1, the beginning of a new fiscal year.

Little Hatch Act Need Is Outlined

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Charles E. Dunbar Jr. of the Civil Service League said Friday the people of Louisiana will never vote for a return "to a prostitution and corruption of political standards" by repeal of the Little Hatch Act.

Rep. A. T. Sanders Jr., East Baton Rouge Parish, with the governor's open blessings, is pushing a constitutional revision to knock out the ban against political activity by state and city employees.

Since civil service has been in the state constitution since 1953, any change calls for a two-thirds legislative vote and public approval at the polls.

Dunbar, chairman of the legal committee of the Civil Service League, said in the past a vicious system of shakedowns and salary deductions, "which became a national political scandal, existed and was exposed in Louisiana."

"Public employees not only were coerced to give and solicit funds for political purposes," he added, "but were actively coerced and required to make monthly percentage payments from their salaries to the political leaders and machines in control of the state and city governments."

In a memorandum explaining need for the Little Hatch Act, Dunbar said "it is logically impossible to have public employees want a restriction on their political activities as factional ward leaders, precinct captains, etc."

"The important and real issue,"

Dunbar warned, "is whether or not such a restriction is in the public interest."

Sanders has explained the purpose of his proposal is not to knock out civil service, which he said he favors, but to give employees political freedom.

There will be a prayer service at 4 p.m. today at the residence after which the funeral services will take place at the West Monroe First Baptist Church at 4:30 p.m. with Dr. Jaroy Weber officiating. Interment will follow in the Hasley Cemetery under the direction of the Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be Billy Sullivan, Frank Davis, R. G. Taylor, Sam F. Danna, Hugh Shields and Jack Webb.

She was a member of the First Baptist Church in West Monroe, also of the Veterans of Foreign War Auxiliary.

Sherck Bogen was elected secretary with David Masur and Alvin Bodan named as board members.

In District Court yesterday, Aubrey Wilson, who pleaded guilty to two counts of theft, was remanded to the parish jail to await a presentencing investigation.

Two traffic violators convicted of speeding in trucks were sentenced to $50 fine and court costs.

Mrs. Conrad McDuffey, past regent of the Abraham Morehouse Chapter of the D.A.R. will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Ouachita (Geological) and Historical Society today at 2 p.m. at the Ouachita Parish Court House.

Reports will be given by the Geological Committee chairman and by the Museum curator.

Anyone interested in tracing his family tree is invited to attend and the meeting is open to the public.

The West Monroe High School Latin Club at its last meeting before start of vacation, named new officers.

They are Nelda Stewart, president; Steve Carter, vice president; Martha Kemp, secretary; Douglas Wink, treasurer; Murray Burford, reporter; and Andrea Oglesby, his torian.

Committee heads of various groups in the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce will meet Wednesday to select members for their committees.

At this time, the program for the coming Chamber year will also be discussed and plans will be initiated towards the endeavors slated.

Willie Madison had a preliminary hearing on a murder charge when Fourth District Court met yesterday with Judge Jesse Heard presiding.

Madison was ordered held for the Grand Jury. The charges grew out of a May 3 shotgun slaying, according to officials.

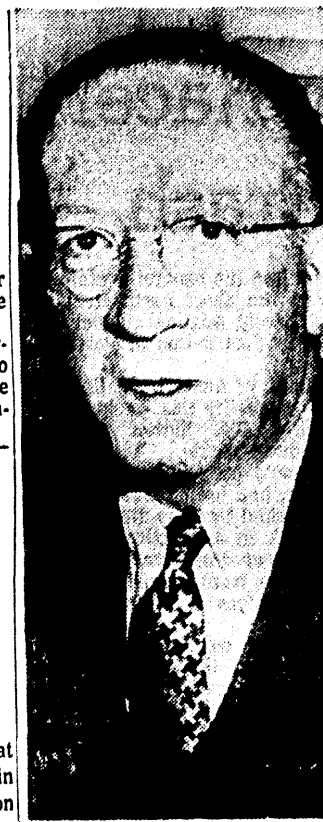

George O. Dyer, who was tried Thursday and found guilty of unauthorized use of a movable, was sentenced yesterday to 90 days in jail from date of incarceration, authorities said.

Examination is now open for a career conditional appointment as construction inspector trainee at $2,960 a year, for duty in the Vicksburg district of the Corps of Engineers.

P. P. Solomon, executive secretary of the board of U. S. civil service examiners for the lower Mississippi valley division, made the announcement.

Further information may be obtained from him, at P. O. Box 60, Vicksburg, Miss.

District Is Leader In Children's Aid

BATON ROUGE (Staff Special)—Northeast Louisiana showed the largest increase in the aid to dependent children program, Mrs. Edith G. Ross, La. Dept. of Welfare, disclosed here Friday.

Mrs. Ross, Director of the Bureau of Public Assistance, said Northeast Louisiana registered the greatest figure of dependents because of had crop conditions.

She said the parishes with the greatest increases included East Carroll, Morehouse, Catahoula, Concordia, Bossier and Avoyelles.

In touching on the Northeast Louisiana increase, Mrs. Ross said fathers, mostly Negroes, are leaving farms and going to cities for jobs, leaving their families behind and failing to send for them.

Mrs. Ross reported to the Welfare Board, again listing Northeast Louisiana with the greatest increase of amount of land placed in the Soil Bank.

The number of dependent children in Louisiana rose from 20,000 in December of 1956 to 23,000 in December, '57. By March of this year, the figure had climbed to 24,000.

HOUMA, La. (AP)—Floyd Smith, 24-year-old Negro of Smith Ridge, died Friday of injuries received in a traffic accident. Officers said his car struck a concrete railroad signpost at a near by Southdown Plantation and skidded 120 feet.

Residents of the Twin Cities will be asked to buy and wear a memorial poppy today, to honor the dead of both world wars and the Korean conflict.

Poppies, replicas of the wild poppies that grew in Flanders Field, are made by disabled veterans, and will be sold on the street throughout the day by women of the American Legion Auxiliary and by other groups.

Money raised will go for rehabilitation of veterans in hospitals, and for veterans in the local posts. This is a free will donation and the public is asked to donate generously by mayors of the Twin Cities.

Tighter Air Restrictions Are Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tighter restrictions on commercial flying were suggested at a Senate inquiry Friday as one way to improve the safety of air travel.

Sen. Elwood R. Quesada, head of President Eisenhower's air coordinating committee, testified "We might well reduce the number of airways" now used by commercial aircraft.

Because of all the air space reserved for civilian air traffic, Quesada said, the military have nowhere to go in some areas.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) agreed that many airways are used very little and that it might be better to have more boulevards and fewer country roads to handle civilian air traffic.

Monroney is chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating recent collisions between airliners and military aircraft and a series of near misses.

The senator suggested the air would be safer if the government fixed an operational ceiling of around 25,000 feet for civil aircraft.

This would allow swifter military planes to fly freely at higher altitudes and reduce the danger of collisions, he said.

3RD ROUND OF TALKS

LSU Board Meets La. Board Today

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana State University's board of supervisors and the State Board of Education get together Saturday for a third round of peace talks.

This time they are set to get down to cases on the main source of their feud—graduate study.

A six-member joint committee headed by LSU board member Mrs. Ella V. Schwing of Plaquemine will report on its study of graduate programs at state colleges compared with the same courses at LSU.

The committee was directed at an April 18 meeting to determine whether there was enough demand to profitably offer the courses at the state colleges.

The dispute popped up last December when the education board voted to expand graduate programs at three state colleges. LSU took the position it should be center of graduate study in Louisiana, arguing it would be a waste of money and lead to low academic standards to try to offer graduate work at all state colleges.

The two boards met last Feb-

Sidney Gill President Of City Alumni

Sidney Gill last night was named president of the Monroe City School alumni association at annual banquet held on the roof of the Hotel Frances. Gill succeeds Frank Breese.

Other officers named at the banquet included Mrs. Sue Graves Stubbs, Mrs. Bette Krauss Doernberg, and Berry Yeldell, vice president; and Mrs. Dorothy Appar Hodge, permanent secretary-treasurer.

Approximately 400 alumni members of the 1958 graduating class and friends of the school system attended the meeting at which time Mrs. Jennie Belle Weeks Trousdale, (Mrs. James H. Trousdale Sr.) was named the Outstanding Mother of the Year.

Mrs. Trousdale, who was presented the corsage by last year's honoree, Mrs. McGee, was a graduate of the class of 1888. She was the first graduate of the first class ever to leave the old Monroe City High School. Four other persons make up the class.

Breese said that the first recipient of the E. L. Neville Scholarship award will be announced at the graduating exercises of Neville High. The recipient will be a person who has dedicated himself to the field of education.

Entertainment for the occasion was provided by the Centenary College choir of Shreveport, which sang selections from "My Fair Lady," "Oklahoma" and several religious songs, in addition to the all-time favorite of those who have heard the group, "Dry Bones."

Votes Counted; Lakeshore Wants Street Lights

Members of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury met yesterday to promulgate votes on a street lighting program for Ouachita Parish lighting district number one.

M. W. Montgomery, police jury president, explained that residents in the Lakeshore addition held a property vote recently to see whether or not residents were interested in taking steps to obtain street lights.

The jury then promulgated the votes and reported the lights went over by a large majority.

Getting money for the lights will be the next step in the program.

Session Set In Fine Arts At Northeast

Featured in summer school activities at Northeast State will be a session in fine arts for junior and senior high school students, Dean Harry M. Lemert announced yesterday.

The fine arts session will open with registration on June 18 and extend through July 3.

Applications for admission to the session may be obtained from public school music teachers or from the Department of Fine Arts at Northeast. Applications must be returned to the college by June 11.

Carrying out a program similar to offerings in former summer schools here, the high school feature will emphasize concentrated work in music, art and speech. Music students will be offered private instruction on instruments as well as playing experience in small and large instrumental ensembles.

A popular feature, Dean Lemert explained, will be work in art whereby students will be given instruction in painting, drawing, modeling, ceramics and other related activities.

The speech - drama division will include play production, television, radio, oral reading and oral interpretation.

An organized recreational program is designed to give students opportunity to enjoy a variety of entertainment. Leaders of the regular fine arts faculty will instruct.

Students will have newly completed and air conditioned facilities in which to work this summer, the Fine Arts Dean said.

Baptists Say They Will Not Hoist Banner

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Southern Baptists decided Friday not to hoist their denominational banner in Canada. They'll help other Baptists there—but not try to woo them into the Southern fold.

The action, which came after a round of debate at the denomination's annual convention, was pictured as necessary to avert competitive friction in the many-branched Baptist family.

"The spirit of reconciliation can mean much to the Kingdom of God as all Baptists work together," said Dr. Porter Routh, executive secretary of the Southern convention.

There are 26 Baptist denominations on this continent, with nearly 20 million members—about 9 million of them Southern Baptists.

This big group, once geographically confined to the South, now spreads throughout the nation—their churches springing up in areas previously the preserve of American (Northern) Baptists.

Former Attorney For South Miss. Dies In Sleep

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP)—Joseph E. Brown Sr., 53-year-old former U. S. attorney for south Mississippi, died in his sleep early Friday at his summer home near Lake St. John, La.

Relatives said Brown apparently suffered a heart attack.

Brown, a native of Aberdeen, served as district attorney in Adams County for several terms and as U. S. attorney in 1947-54.

Funeral services are incomplete pending the arrival of his son.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okl.) agreed that many airways are used very little and that it might be better to have more boulevards and fewer country roads to handle civilian air traffic.

Monroney is chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating recent collisions between airlines and military aircraft and a series of near misses.

The senator suggested the air would be safer if the government fixed an operational ceiling of around 25,000 feet for civil aircraft.

This would allow swifter military planes to fly freely at higher altitudes and reduce the danger of collisions, he said.

Geckos seem to be able to defy gravity by traveling upside down on the ceilings of houses because they possess remarkable adhesive toe pads.

BIG QUALIFYING DAY

Speedway Racer
Lucky In Crash

By DALE BURGESS
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Luck of both drivers and management was holding Friday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Hurler Signed
For Reported
100,000 Bucks

DENVER, N. C. (AP) — Tony Cloninger, 17-year-old Rock Springs, N. C., high school pitching sensation, may have received about $100,000 to sign with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves announced the signing Thursday, but Scout Gil Engle refused to say how much Cloninger received, saying only he received a "sizeable bonus."

A representative of one major league system said, "I dropped out when the bidding passed $75,000. I know the final figure would not miss $100,000 more than $10,000 either way."

Cloninger, contacted by 13 major league clubs, was signed to a class A contract with Austin, Tex., and immediately optioned to Eau Claire, Wis., of the Class C Northern League. He will report next week.

A 210-pound, 6-1 farm boy, he had a 6-1 record this season and pitched two no-hit, no-run games.

In Milwaukee, General Manager John Quinn of the Braves said "It has been our policy never to divulge what salaries we pay or what we pay to boys we sign. All that is subject to speculation. We never give out that information. What anyone else wants to speculate is all right with us."

Reds Beat Bums
To Avoid Cellar

CINCINNATI (AP) — A three-run scoring outburst in the fifth inning plus Ed Bailey's home run helped Cincinnati's Redlegs keep out of the National League cellar Friday night with a 4-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Reliever Hal Jeffcoat had a pitch his way out of big trouble in the eighth inning to protect the triumph.

Two straight singles in the eighth inning had sent Redlegs starter Bob Purkey to an early shower. Jeffcoat finally jammed the bases on a walk to Carl Furillo, but fanned Charlie Neal and got Gil Hodges to fly out, ending the inning.

Purkey had little trouble until the seventh inning when Charlie Neal banged his eighth homer of the season.

OUTDOORS

By DION HENDERSON
The Associated Press
After 25 years of trying to establish and put into general use the common names of fish, the experts may now fairly be said to have brought confusion out of chaos.

That is to say, there is an authority that can be consulted if the boys in the backroom can find it when the argument between a Yankee and a Texan waxes like the Gulf Coast in hurricane weather over what is a trout and what is a bass.

As a matter of fact, the authority has been in the process of being established for some 10 years, it having taken only 15 years before that for a majority of the experts to agree on a majority of common names.

The American Fisheries Society formed a committee in 1933 to "prepare and submit for publication a list of common names of fishes corresponding to the accepted scientific names."

In all, 605 fishes were considered for the list, of which 35 were eliminated as of insufficient interest. Of the remaining 570, there was unanimous agreement on 245 species, while 291 were approved by a two-thirds vote. The remaining 24 squabbled through on the basis of a plurality.

By 1948, the society put out the bulletin listing what it considers accepted names. In the decade since, experts by and large find themselves going along with it. Sportsmen? Well—

If, that is, it isn't a char. Or a bass.

Californians receiving state aid to the age have taken seriously the provision that recipients can apply for free fishing licenses. Among the 7,000 applicants: A 98-year-old . . . The 1959 Chicago National Boat Show, traditionally the world's largest, will be held Feb. 6-15. . . Idaho birdwatchers have come up with a list of 261 species spotted in the state. Many a householder may try to match it in his backyard cherry tree, come pie time.

Special into the concrete retaining wall on the short north straightaway, barely missing another car driven by Len Sutton of Portland, Ore.

Johnson, of Anaheim, Calif., had hoped to qualify this weekend for his first 300. Sutton also is a Speedway rookie.

Johnson's car, definitely out of the race, had been rebuilt after it was wrecked by Tony Bonadies of New York in a practice run last year. Owner Ray Brady arrived at the track from Norristown, Pa., minutes before Johnson hit the wall.

Five other wrecks in the race preliminaries this month also caused only minor injuries to drivers. There have been 47 deaths in previous accidents at the 49-year-old Speedway.

Fourteen spots open are in the 33-car starting field, going into Saturday's seven-hour session starting at 10 p.m. C.S.T.

Shorty Templeman, Seattle, Wash., McNamara Special No. 83. Rex E. Easton, Springfield, Ill., Hoover Special No. 10.

Jud Larson, Tulsa, Okla., Zink Special No. 44. Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., Schmidt Special No. 88.

Art Bisch, Phoenix, Ariz., Anstead-Rotary Special No. 17. Marshall Teague, Daytona Beach, Fla., Sumar Special No. 18.

Troy Rutman, La Mirada, Calif., Agajian Special No. 98. Len Sutton, Portland, Ore., Robbin Special No. 68.

Other veteran drivers who will try to qualify include Jimmy Daywalt, Indianapolis; Ray Crawford, Pasadena, Calif.; Bill Cheesbourg, Tucson, Ariz.; Al Herman, Westcoastville, Pa.; Jim Rathman, Miami, and Fred Agabashian, Alamo, Calif.

Rothman's Hopkins Special, which he carried him to second place in 1957, has been cranked this year, but he finally got it up to almost 143 miles an hour Friday.

Redleg catcher Bailey, who pulled out of a batting slump recently, wacked his homer in the sixth.

The fifth inning was Cincinnati's to bit one. The Reds roughed up starter Johnny Podres for three runs on three hits and an error.

A single and a bunt put two Redlegs on base and when Johnny Temple put down a bunt, Gil Hodges threw wildly to first base allowing the first Cincinnati run to score.

A pop fly and a sacrifice fly brought in the next two runs.

But that was all the scoring for Cincinnati. Reliever Ed Roebuck came on in the seventh and held the Reds to one hit the rest of the game.

Busso Earns
Nod In Bout
With Godih

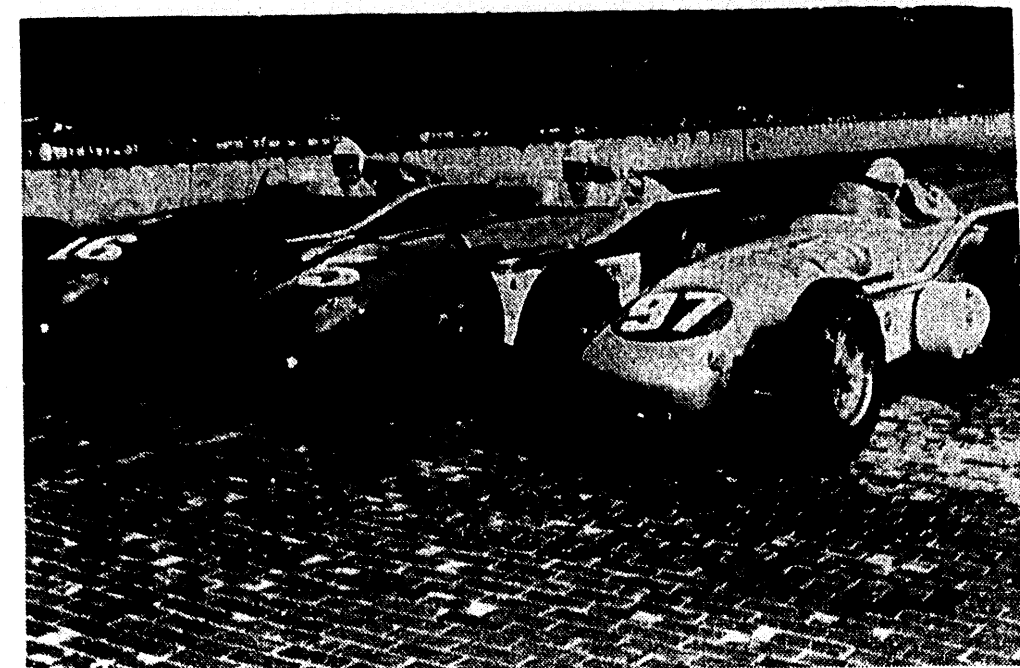

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Busso, a wild free-swinging from New York, pounded out a unanimous decision over shifty Lahouari Godih, the French lightweight champ Friday night in Madison Square Garden. Godih weighed 140, Busso 140½.

Busso, ranked fifth among the lightweight challengers by the National Boxing Ass'n, landed the heavier punches in the no-knock-down scrap witnessed by a small crowd and a national TV audience.

Godih, a French-Algerian who now lives in Paris, had an effective jab and a clever counter attack but he was reluctant to swap freely with his more rugged opponent.

In the last round, Busso was cut around the left eye as he pressed a heavy attack in one of the best rounds of the fight.

Referee Mark Conn scored it 7-2-1, Judge Bill Recht 7-3 and Judge Harold Barnes 8-2 all for Busso. The AP card was 7-3 for Busso, the early favorite who went into the ring an 8 to 5 underdog.

THE FRONT ROW—These three cars and drivers will occupy the front row in the 500-mile Memorial Day race at Indianapolis. On the pole will be Dick Rathmann, driving a McNamara Special, No. 97. In the center is Ed Elisian, driving No. 5, John Zink Special. On the outside, Jimmy Reece will be driving the No. 16, John Zink Special. These cars captured front row positions by having the fastest qualifying times on the first day of the trials. (AP Wirephoto)

SWELL LEAD

'Frisco Scotches Spahn
To Defeat Braves, 5 To 3

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The San Francisco Giants' Friday night smashed Warren Spahn's bid for a perfect game as they thundered from behind on home runs to defeat the Milwaukee Braves 5-3 and increase their National League lead to 2½ games.

The victory went to Johnny Antonelli who stopped the Braves on three hits, but pitched in Spahn's shadow for six innings. The Giants gained the victory on solo homers by Bob Schmidt and Willie Kirkland and a two-run blast by Willie Mays that decided the game in the ninth.

It was the fourth victory against six victories for Spahn who fanned three defeats for Antonelli, a former Brave, who struck out four and walked only one. Two of the Milwaukee hits were homers by Ed Mathews and Del Crandall.

It was the first defeat against eight and walked only one. But the Giants found the walk the key to victory.

Through six innings the 37-year-old Spahn was bidding for a perfect game. After retiring 19 Giants in a row, he saw three San Francisco batters take away from him in order, the perfect game, a no-hitter and a shutout. Danny O'Connell walked in the seventh to become the first Giant to reach base. The first hit was May's single and an infield out by Hank Sauer allowed O'Connell to score the first run.

The homers by Schmidt and Kirkland tied the score in the eighth. Mays hit his 13th of the season after O'Connell had singled.

FAVORITE COUSINS

Wynn Blows Past
Baltimore, 1 To 0

By JOE MOOSHL
CHICAGO (AP) — Early Wynn, the major leagues' winningest pitcher, hurled the Chicago White Sox to a 1-0 three-hit victory Friday night over his favorite "cousin," the Baltimore Orioles.

The big right-hander, scoring his 239th victory of his career and his fourth against two losses this season, struck out nine Orioles and allowed only one man to reach third. The triumph was Wynn's 15th against two losses in competition against Baltimore.

Wynn was in complete command all the way, issuing two walks and allowing only one hit—an infield scratch—after the second inning.

A crowd of 10,192, braving 40-degree temperatures, saw ex-Sox Jack Harshman suffer his second defeat against five wins. Harshman allowed seven hits but was the victim of a sloppy play on which the Sox scored the game's only run in the third inning.

Wynn opened to third base on a single by Luis Aparicio. Nellie Fox then lofted a shallow fly to Green dropped the ball and Wynn scored with the winning run.

Harshman then got Al Smith to hit into a double play and struck out Walt Dropp to end the inning. From then on, Harshman allowed only three singles.

Baltimore's only serious threat came in the first when Billy Gardner walked and after Al Pilarcik struck out Gardner romped to third on Bob Nieman's single. Jim Marshall, however, struck out and Nieman was thrown out at second on an attempted steal.

The Porkers' conference schedule varies from former years when it had been the pattern to pair TCU and SMU, Texas and Baylor and Rice and Texas A&M for its road trips into Texas over a weekend. This season they will make single trips to play Texas Tech, TCU and Baylor, play Texas and Rice on one swing and the Aggies and SMU on another.

BIG QUALIFYING DAY

Speedway Racer
Lucky In Crash

By DALE BURGESS
INDIANAPOLIS — Luck of both drivers and management was holding Friday at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Van Dale Johnson crawled unhurt from the sixth wreck this month, and a forecast of bright, cool weather promised another huge crowd for Saturday's third session of qualifications for the 500-mile race May 30.

Johnson, 31, smashed the Brady

Special into the concrete retaining wall on the short north straightaway, barely missing another car driven by Len Sutton of Portland, Ore.

Johnson, of Anaheim, Calif., had hoped to qualify this weekend for his first 500. Sutton also is a Speedway rookie.

Johnson's car, definitely out of the race, had been rebuilt after it was wrecked by Tony Bonadies of New York in a practice run last year. Owner Ray Brady arrived at the track from Norristown, Pa., minutes before Johnson hit the wall.

Five other wrecks in the race preliminaries this month also caused only minor injuries to drivers. There have been 47 deaths in previous accidents at the 49-year-old Speedway.

Fourteen spots open are in the 33-car starting field going into Saturday's seven-hour session starting at 10 p.m. (C.S.T.).

The approximate qualifying order:

Shorty Templeman, Seattle, Wash., McNamara Special No. 83. Rex Easton, Springfield, Ill., Hoover Special No. 10.

Jud Larson, Tulsa, Okla., Zink Special No. 44.

Marshall Teague, Daytona Beach, Fla., Sumar Special No. 18.

Troy Rutman, La Mirada, Calif., Agajin Special No. 98.

Len Sutton, Portland, Ore., Robbins Special No. 68.

Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa., D-A Special No. 75.

George Amick, Venice, Calif., Demler Special No. 99.

Other veteran drivers who will try to qualify include Jimmy Daywalt, Indianapolis; Ray Crawford, Pasadena, Calif.; Bill Chesbro, Tucson, Ariz.; Al Herman, Westcoastville, Pa.; Jim Rathmann, Miami, and Fred Agabashian, Alamo, Calif.

Rothmann's Hopkins Special the car which carried him to second place in 1957, has been cranky this year, but he finally got it up to almost 143 miles an hour Friday.

Hurler Signed
For Reported
100,000 Bucks

DENVER, N. C. — Tony Cloninger, 17-year-old Rock Springs, N. C., high school pitching sensation, may have received about $100,000 to sign with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves announced the signing Thursday, but Scout Gil English refused to say how much Cloninger received, saying only he received a "sizeable bonus."

A representative of one major league system said, "I dropped out when the bidding passed $75,000. I know the final figure would not miss $100,000 more than $10,000 either way."

Cloninger, contacted by 13 major league clubs, was signed to a class AA contract with Austin, Tex., and immediately optioned to Eau Claire, Wis., of the Class C Northern League. He will report next week.

A 210-pound, 6-1 farm boy, he had a 6-1 record this season and pitched two no-hit, no-run games. In Milwaukee, General Manager John Quinn of the Braves said "It has been our policy never to divulge what salaries we pay or what we pay to boys we sign. All that is subject to speculation. We never give out that information. What anyone else wants to speculate is all right with us."

Reds Beat Bums
To Avoid Cellar

CINCINNATI — A three-run scoring outburst in the fifth inning plus Ed Bailey's home run helped Cincinnati's Redlegs keep out of the National League cellar Friday night with a 4-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Reliever Hal Jeffcoat had to pitch his way out of big trouble in the eighth inning to protect the triumph.

Two straight singles in the eighth inning had sent Redlegs starter Bob Purkey to an early shower. Jeffcoat finally jammed the bases on a walk to Carl Furillo, but fanned Charlie Neal and got Gil Hodges to fly out, ending the inning.

Purkey had little trouble until the seventh inning when Charlie Neal batted his eighth homer of the season. He scattered four hits through the first six innings, but didn't strike out a man.

Redleg catcher Bailey, who pulled out of a batting slump recently, wacked his homer in the sixth.

The fifth inning was Cincinnati's big one. The Reds roughed up starter Johnny Podres for three runs on three hits and an error.

A single and a bunt put two Redlegs on base and when Johnny Temple put down a bunt, Gil Hodges threw wildly to first base allowing the first Cincinnati run to score.

A pop fly and a sacrifice fly brought in the next two runs.

But that was all the scoring for Cincinnati. Reliever Ed Roebuck came on in the seventh and held the Reds to one hit the rest of the

After 25 years of trying to establish and put into general usage the common names of fish, the experts may now fairly be said to have brought confusion out of chaos.

That is to say, there is an authority that can be consulted if the boys in the backroom can find it when the argument between a Yankee and a Texan waxes like the Gulf Coast in hurricane weather over what is a trout and what is a bass.

As a matter of fact, the authority has been in the process of being established for some 10 years, it having taken only 15 years before that for a majority of the experts to agree on a majority of common names.

The American Fisheries Society formed a committee in 1933 to "prepare and submit for publication a list of common names of fishes corresponding to the accepted scientific names."

In all, 605 fishes were considered for the list, of which 35 were eliminated as of insufficient interest. Of the remaining 570, there was unanimous agreement on 245 species, while 291 were approved by a two-thirds vote. The remaining 34 squeaked through on the basis of a plurality.

By 1948, the society put out the bulletin listing what it considers accepted names. In the decade since, experts by and large find themselves going along with it. Sportsmen? Well—

If that is it, isn't a char.

Or a bass.

Californians receiving state aid to the aged have taken seriously the provision that recipients can apply for free fishing licenses. Among the 7,200 applicants: A 98-year-old . . . The 1959 Chicago National Boat Show, traditionally the world's largest, will be held Feb. 6-15. . . Idaho birdwatchers have come up with a list of 261 species spotted in the state. Many a householder may try to match it in his backyard cherry tree, come pie time.

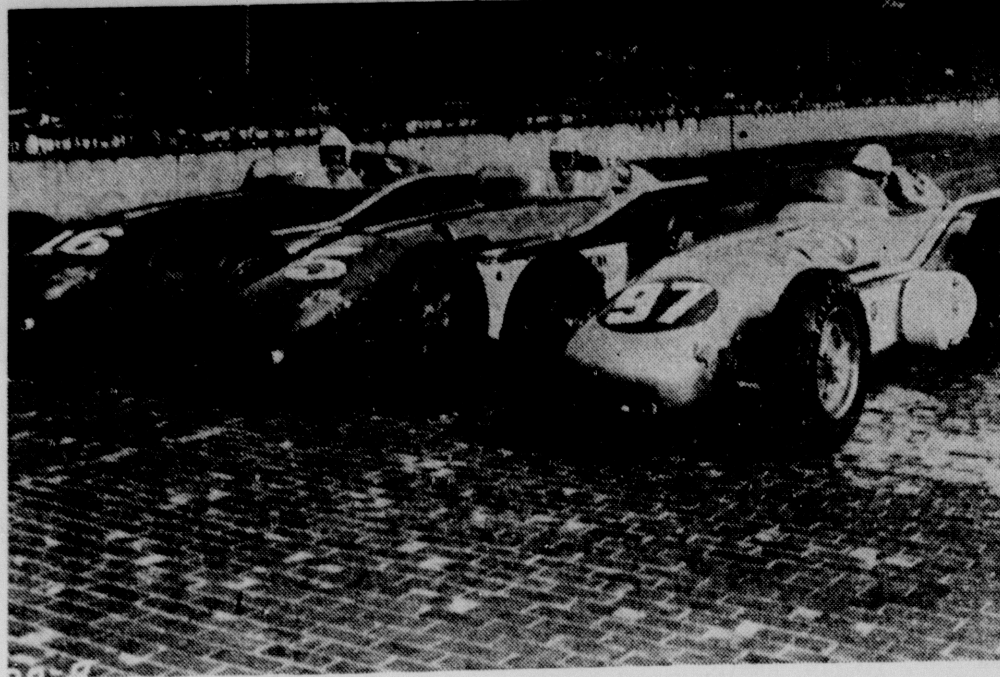

Busso Earns
Nod In Bout

By JACK HAN

NEW YORK — Johnny Busso, a wild free-swinging from New York, pounded out a unanimous decision over snifty Lahouari Godih, the French lightweight champ Friday night in Madison Square Garden. Godih weighed 140, Busso 140½.

Busso, ranked fifth among the lightweight challengers by the National Boxing Assn., landed the heavier punches in the no-knockdown scrap witnessed by a small crowd and a national TV audience. Godih, a French-Algerian who now lives in Paris, had an effective jab and a clever counter attack but he was reluctant to swap freely with his more rugged opponent. In the last round, Busso was cut around the left eye as he pressed a heavy attack in one of the best rounds of the fight.

Referee Mark Conn scored it 7-2-1. Judge Bill Recht 7-3 and Judge Harold Barnes 8-2 all for Busso. The AP card was 7-3 for Busso, the early favorite who went into the ring an 8 to 5 underdog.

SWELL LEAD

To Defeat Braves, 5 To 3

MILWAUKEE — The San Francisco Giants' Friday night smashed Warren Spahn's bid for a perfect game as they thundered from behind on home runs to defeat the Milwaukee Braves 5-3 and increase their National League lead to 2½ games.

The victory went to Johnny An-tonelli who stopped the Braves on three hits, but pitched in Spahn's shadow for six innings. The Giants gained the victory on solo homers by Bob Schmidt and Willie Kirkland and a two-run blast by Willie Mays that decided the game in the ninth.

the first defeat against eight and walked only one. But the Giants found the walk the key to victory.

Through six innings the 37-year-old Spahn was bidding for a perfect game. After retiring 19 Giants in a row, he saw three San Francisco batters take away from him in order, the perfect game, a no-hitter and a shutout. Danny O'Connell walked in the seventh to become the first Giant to reach base. The first hit was May's single and an infield out by Hank Sauer allowed O'Connell to score the first run.

The homers by Schmidt and Kirkland tied the fifth and third respectively, tied the score in the eighth. Mays hit his 13th of the season after O'Connell had singled.

Mathews collected his 10th home run in the first inning and Crandall banged his in the fifth after an error put Wes Covington on base.

10TH IN ROW FOR YANKS

Amazing Bob Turley Wins
7th, Stopping Tigers, 7-1

DETROIT — Bob Turley got home-run help from Gil McDougald, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra and the New York Yankees walloped the Detroit Tigers 7-1 Friday night before 39,563 spectators.

The triumph was Turley's seventh without a loss, the Yankee's 10th in succession and sent the Tigers to their ninth straight defeat.

Turley lost his shutout in the ninth inning, ending a string of 26 scoreless innings. This was his seventh straight complete game.

McDougald and Howard each slammed three-run homers, both coming off starter Billy Hoef.

McDougald hit a 3-0 pitch in the first inning behind singles by Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle.

Bauer and Mantle walked before Howard connected in the third.

Berra got his home run in the eighth inning after Tiger first baseman Ray Boone fumbled a grounder by Marv Throneberry.

Turley had worked his way out of two serious jams before the Tigers finally cracked through with a run in the ninth. Al Kaline, Boone and Charlie Maxwell singled, loading the bases. Turley's ex-teammate, Billy Martin, spoiled his shutout with a sacrifice fly that scored Kaline.

The Yankees, who now have a 23-5 record over-all, have won 14 of their last 15 starts. Turley had shut out Baltimore and Washington in his last two starts.

Hoef lasted less than three innings and was followed by four other Tiger pitchers.

The Detroit club lost 10 in a row in the 1956 season.

McLish 3-Hitter
Wins For Tribe

CLEVELAND — Cal McLish tossed a three-hitter Friday night to shade Washington's Pedro Ramos in a pitching duel of right-handers as the Cleveland Indians won their third straight, 2-1.

The Senators scored in the first inning when they collected two of their hits. They were blanked the rest of the way—except for an eighth-inning single.

The Indians tied it up in their half of the first on Gary Geiger's double and a single by Preston Ward.

Cleveland scored the winning run in the fourth on singles by Roger Maris and Russ Nixon and a force out on a grounder hit by Billy Harrell.

McLish, posting his first victory of the season against one defeat, became the third straight member of the Tribe hurling corps to pitch a complete game.

The 32-year-old Oklahoman set the Senators down in order with out yielding a hit from the second through the sixth inning. Jim Lemon drew a walk in the fourth but was cut down attempting to steal.

Julio Becquer got the other Washington hit, a single in the eighth.

Cleveland managed only seven hits off the slants of Ramos, who dropped his third game to go with

Chamberlain Quits Kansas To Launch 160-Game Tour

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain, one of the most publicized basketball players of the generation, announced Friday he was quitting the University of Kansas to launch a 160-game barnstorming tour.

At the same time, he leveled a blast at the brand of basketball played at Kansas, saying it was "hurting his chances of ever developing into a successful professional player."

The 7-foot All-America star from Philadelphia, in a copyrighted, signed article in Look magazine, said he planned to organize two 10-man squads, one of Negro players and one of whites, for the tour.

"We'll play 160 games, beginning in South America very soon and continuing the next basketball season through the United States," he added. "This tour will give me the competition I need to get ready for the pro league."

Few other details were given of the proposed campaign.

Wilt said the squads would be made up of "real good players I know of, who never got a chance to play in college or who couldn't quite make the pro grade."

He added he was looking forward to playing pro basketball in the National Basketball Assn., as a member of the Philadelphia Warriors, who hold draft rights to his services. But he cannot join the Warriors until 1959, after his college class is graduated.

"I'm glad that because I'm not ready for the pros yet by a long shot—or even a jump shot," Chamberlain said in the magazine.

"The game I was forced to play at KU wasn't basketball. I wasn't developing the all-around game I need to meet the kind of challenge Bill Russell had to face when he moved up from the University of San Francisco to the Boston Celtics."

"There is so much big talent in the pros that they don't look up to anybody."

Ed Gottlieb, owner of the Warriors, was in Europe, and unavailable immediately for comment.

At Lawrence, Kan., Dick Harp, Kansas coach, refused to comment on Chamberlain's criticism of Kansas basketball, but he wished his protegee success in his new venture.

"I am certain Wilt will go on to prove himself the finest player in the history of the game," Harp said.

Chamberlain said the barnstorming tour would give him a chance to make some money for his family. "There are nine of us, six boys and three girls," he said, "and we've always had to struggle to get along."

The stringbean Negro, sought by more than 200 colleges before he enrolled at Kansas, said he wanted to deny reports he received $25,000 to $30,000 for playing basketball at Kansas and that he once asked $5,200 besides tuition, room and board, to attend Indiana.

He said at Kansas he received only board, room, tuition and $15 a month for laundry and incidentals.

He said he only considered four colleges—Dayton, Michigan, Indiana and KU. "Some Southern schools got in touch with me before they realized my color," he added.

Chamberlain was named on The Associated Press All-America last season for the second time. He led in the voting.

HERBERT TIED FOR 2ND

Ernie Vossler In Kansas City Lead

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., sporting a new putter and a new pair of spectacles, shot into the halfway lead of the $22,500 Kansas City Open Golf Tournament Friday with a seven-under-par 65 for a 36-hole score of 132.

The 29-year-old Texan, who never has won a major tournament, left the name players at least two strokes behind.

Lionel Herbert, the PGA champion, shot a 68 for 134 and a second place tie with Tommy Jacobs, the first round leader; Bruce Crampton, Sydney, Australia, and Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Jacobs, 23, from Whittier, Calif., tied the course record Thursday with a 64, but slipped to 70 on the 6,668-yard Hillcrest Course.

Vossler missed the green with his tee shot on the 250-yard par three first hole and took a bogey four, but he never was over par on any of the remaining 17 holes.

Although rain had spattered the course, Vossler had four putts of about 16 feet for birdies on the back nine.

Player, who added a 67 to an identical first round total, played his irons sensationally, and dropped short putts for birdies on seven holes. He bogied twice, at the sixth and sixteenth greens.

Crampton said he found the greens much the same as in Australia. He proved he liked them by dropping birdies from the 11th through the 14th holes and almost came in with a 63. But his putts slipped the cup on both the 17th and 18th greens.

Youth gave the veterans a back seat through the first 36 holes. Only Herbert and Vossler among the five top finishers are more than 23 years old.

Roberto DeVicenzo of Mexico was third low scorer. He shot a 67 for a 138 total.

Tied for seventh at 139 were seven pros. Bill Seznicki, a reformed hockey player from Stoneham, Mass.; Art Wall Jr. of Pococeno Manor, Pa.; Wes Ellis Jr., of Ridgewood, N. J.; Dow Finster-

Wald of Tequesta, Fla.; Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.; Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., and George Bayer of San Gabriel, Calif.

The field was reduced to 63 for the final 36 holes with all players at 147 or better getting in. Al Beselink, the defending titleholder from Grossinger, N. Y., barely qualified with a 73 added to his opening round 74.

The leaders:

Ernie Vossler	65-67-132
Tommy Jacobs	64-70-134
Gary Player	67-67-134
Lionel Herbert	66-68-134
Bruce Crampton	69-65-134

Trenton Tigers Vs. Sterlington

The Trenton Tigers will meet the Sterlington All Stars at 2 p.m. at Williams Field in West Monroe with Carl Emerson and George Douglas the battery for Trenton.

Admission will be 50 cents for grownups and 25 cents for kids.

Dixie, Teener, Little Leagues Opon Seasons

Rain forced postponement of yesterday's scheduled opening games in the Dixie League and the Southside Little League but the Dixie Leaguers will try again this afternoon while the Northside Little League and the Teener circuit stage their openers.

Both of the Dixie League openers will be played this afternoon at Legion Stadium.

Missouri Pacific meets Ouachita Bank at 1 o'clock and Central Bank engages Southern Equipment at 3.

The Teener League takes over the Legion park at 5 p.m. when Louisiana-Arkansas Equipment plays the Sterlington Lions in the loop's first game. Missouri Pacific plays Monroe Candy in the second game at 7.

Louisiana Plumbing and Monroe Police tangle at Little League Stadium at 5:30 p.m. and Van Trow meets United Gas at 7:00 p.m. in the Northside Little League openers.

Rayville Legion Team Schedules First Practice

RAYVILLE, La. (Special)—Rayville's American Legion Junior baseball team will hold its first practice session of the season here this afternoon with all eligible boys in the Winnboro, Holly Ridge, Start, Mangham and Rayville urged to attend.

The Rayville team will be sponsored by Richard Motor Company. Russell Burk is the business manager and Tommy Leos is the coach.

All boys who will not be 18 until on or after Sept. 1, 1958, are eligible for American Legion ball.

Lace Panties Girl Defeated In Paris Meet

PARIS (AP)—Karol Fageros, the lace panties girl from Miami, was eliminated Friday, but two other Americans, Budge Patty and Mrs. Dorothy Head Knobe, advanced to the fourth round of the French International Tennis Tournament.

Miss Fageros, whose gold lame attire has been barred at Wimbledon, was upset in a women's third round match by Suzanne Le Besnerais of France, 7-5, 6-3.

This left Mrs. Knobe of Forest Hills, N. Y., the lone U. S. hope for the women's crown. Mrs. Knobe, fifth seeded, advanced on a default by Josette Billiaz of France.

Patty, former Wimbledon champion from Los Angeles and Paris, swept to an easy victory over Jiri Javorski of Czechoslovakia 6-1, 6-2, 6-3. The American never was pressed in the 40-minute match.

Patty teamed with Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt in winning third round men's doubles match from Bill Alvarez of Colombia and Emilio Martinez of Spain 6-4, 6-1, 6-0.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper, the Australian champion, gained the fourth round by defeating Antonio Palafox of Mexico 6-1, 7-5, 6-1. He and the fifth-seeded Patty were joined by Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, Luis Ayala of Chile, Robert Haillet of France, Andres Gimeno of Spain and Anton Jancso of Hungary.

Shirley Bloomer of Britain, favorite for the women's title, defeated Jean Forbes of South Africa 6-3, 9-7.

Big Ten Plugs Hole In Rules On Eligibility

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Big Ten officials Friday plugged a loophole that enabled universities to hold athletes out of competition in their early school years and prolong their eligibility for varsity teams.

The policymaking representatives also rejected a proposal to restore junior varsity football.

The rule limiting athletic competition to four years was adopted last year. It became known as the red shirt rule.

In Friday's action the group specified that no student can be eligible after four consecutive 12-month periods following his initial entrance to college.

Under the old practice, some sophomores would scrimmage against the varsity, but would be withheld from regular games to prolong their eligibility.

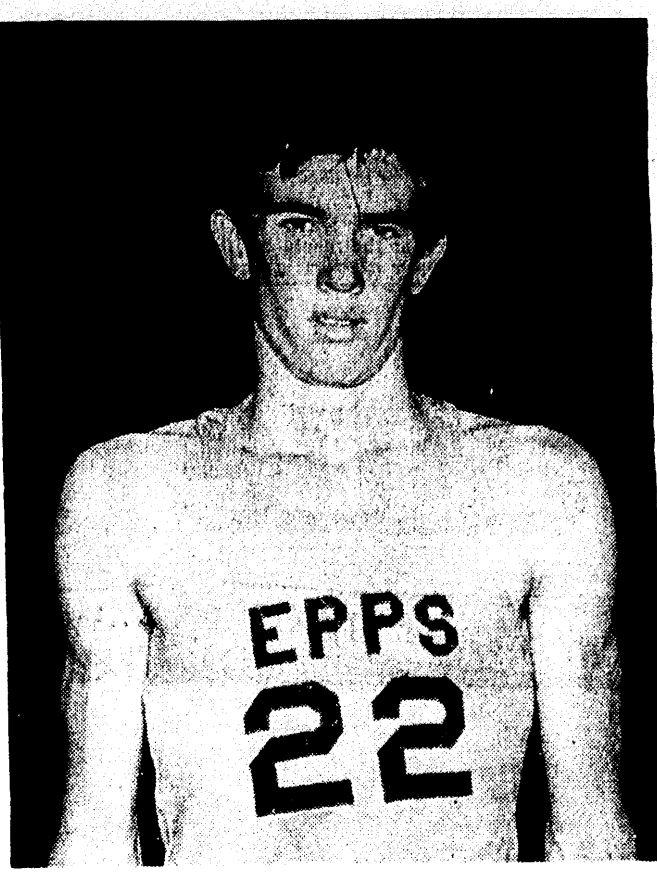

Golden Gloves Champ To Make Pro Debut Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Jose Torres, National AAU and Golden Gloves middleweight champion, makes his pro debut Saturday night.

The 22-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker meets Gene Hamilton of Winston-Salem, N. C., in the feature six-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena. Jose is managed by Gus D'Amato, who brought Floyd Patterson from the amateur and Olympic ranks to the world pro heavyweight championship.

Rebel Meeting

The Rebel League Board of Directors will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the West Monroe City Hall.

COLLECTS TRACK MEDALS—Until this year he had never entered more than three meets a season, but Julius "Dobbin" Plunkett, Epps High, has won 15 medals, topping three seasons of work this year when he won the state Class B mile. He won the district B-2 mile last year, repeated this season, additionally winning the 880. He placed third in the 880 in the state meet. He was second in his class in the mile run in the "Meet of Champions" at New Orleans.

Round Table Seeks To Build Bank Roll

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The Kerr Stable's Round Table, winner of 19 of his last 20 races and the sport's newest millionaire, goes after another big $100,000-a-day event Saturday at Hollywood Park with only four opponents barring the way from a net $63,300 purse.

The race is the mile and one-sixteenth Californian, and Round Table looms as a prohibitive favorite to win and hike his total bankroll to $1,069,064 as third leading money winner in the world.

Only Nashua, with $1,238,565, and Citation, with $1,085,760 are ahead of him. Both are retired.

Other important races dot the stakes schedule. Twelve are entered for the $50,000-added Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park, 13 for the $30,000-added Acorn Stakes at Belmont Park, 14 in the $25,000-added Suffolk Downs Stakes, and 16 for the $20,000-added Continental Turf Handicap at Washington Park.

The Sunny Blue Farm's Lincoln Road, second behind Tim Tam in the Kentucky and Florida Derbies and the Preakness, heads the 3-year-olds who meet in the mile and one-eighth Jersey Stakes. The Jersey is the TV and radio (CBS) offering from 3:30 p.m. (CST).

Round Table packs 130 pounds and is to be ridden by Willie Shoemaker. The 4-year-old meets horses he has whipped several times. Laurence Pollack and Roland Bond's Terrang, with 115 pounds, is next in the weights. The other three, each packing 107, are Seaneen, Pit Boss and The Searcher.

With Mrs. C. Ulrick Bay, temporarily sidelined, a large field was entered for the Acorn Stakes at one mile. Most of the 3-year-old misses are eligible for the $60,000-added Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont June 21.

I. J. Collins' Dixie Miss, winner of a division of the Preakness Stakes, the Foxcatcher Farms' Lopar, Ned W. Brent's Polamby, and the Short Brook Farm's Craftiness were runnersup to Idun last fall in the Fризette and Gardena Stakes, respectively.

Lincoln Road hasn't won a race this year, and under allowance conditions packs only 111 pounds in the Kentucky. Li'l Fella, Talent Show, Balmacera and Deack Duncan each carry 118.

The Boncriss Farm's Backbone, winner of the Chesapeake Stakes and the Hartford Handicap, is the probable favorite in the 6-furlong Suffolk Downs Stakes. W. W. Carroll's Charlie Boy and Gerald S. Collella's Admirals Joy also pack 121.

Ekaba, who won the $50,000 Golden Gate Handicap two weeks ago for the Azura Stock Farms, has top weight of 124 pounds to the 6-furlong Continental Turf Handicap. The Hasty House Farm has the entry of Mahan, 118, and Arcandy, 116, while another entry is Fred W. Hooper's Alhambra, 115, and Greek Game, 116. Mahan won the Laurel International last fall. John Zitznick's Manasas, 1957 Arlington Handicap winner, has 120 pounds.

Matchmaker Brown Quits International

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Brown announced his resignation as matchmaker of the International Boxing Club Friday following several recent appearances before a grand jury investigating pro boxing.

In a letter to the state athletic commission, he said he was returning his matchmaker's license because in the last few months "there has been a great deal of unnecessary strain both on my family and myself."

Later the 57-year-old former fighter, manager and promoter told newsmen "I couldn't stand the smears I got from downtown."

As matchmaker for the sprawling IBC, Brown has been responsible for most of the Wednesday and Friday night network television fights for the last six years. He had been assistant to Al Weill for two years and succeeded Weill in 1952. Weill quit to concentrate on managing heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Brown handed in his resignation to Truman Gibson, recently appointed president of the IBC.

"We're sorry about it," said Gibson. "It's his decision."

Gibson named Brown's assistant, Jack Barrett, acting head matchmaker.

Brown was among a dozen boxing figures subpoenaed by District Attorney Frank Hogan on March 21 to appear before the New York County grand jury.

On April 25, he was ordered by General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen to answer specific questions before the jury.

The order was issued after Chief Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Scotti, in charge of the Rackets Bureau, said Brown admitted he "talked in code" to Paul John Carbo.

Carbo, also known as Frankie Carbo, was described by the district attorney's office as "an undercover manager of professional prizefighters through various 'front men.'"

MATCHED

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Carter of Linden, N. J., a leading heavyweight contender until he entered the army in 1957, has signed to meet Willi Besmanoff of Germany in a television 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, June 13.

12 Colleges To Compete In 56th Rowing Regatta

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Thirty-one shells from 12 colleges will compete in the 56th Annual Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. Regatta on Onondaga Lake June 21.

The Syracuse Regatta Assn. said Friday 12 boats would race in the three-mile varsity event, nine in the junior varsity competition and ten in the freshman event.

Cornell is defending champion in the varsity and junior varsity titles in the freshman race.

Beleaguered Dodgers Can Only Wait, Hope And Pray

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, as beleaguered as a big league baseball club can get, pursued the only policy possible Friday in the newest storm over their future home.

"All we can do is wait, hope and pray," said an attache of the Dodgers.

The fresh upheaval came when Warren Giles, National League president, warned in Cincinnati Thursday he would recommend removal of the Los Angeles franchise if voters fail to approve Chavez Ravine as a site for the Dodgers' proposed new home.

Political factions for and against the measure promptly went into heated action.

Walter O'Malley, Dodgers' president, who has been riding a storm ever since deciding to move the Dodgers from Brooklyn, stood on a plea that baseball be kept out of politics and politics out of baseball.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said in New York: "This is strictly a National League matter and out of my province."

"But one thing is obvious to everybody—if the referendum does not pass, both the National League and the Dodgers will have terrific problems."

The Chavez Ravine referendum comes to vote June 3.

For the sports fan, at least, the issue overshadows such elections of national significance as the races for governor and the Senate.

There was comment also from members of the Dodger team in Cincinnati.

Don Drysdale, young pitcher whose home is in suburban Van Nuys here, observed: "Passage of the proposition can't help but help the team. Nobody would have to worry about where they're going to play in the future."

Of the Dodgers' temporary site in Memorial Coliseum, Drysdale added: "I don't think the caliber of ball played in the Coliseum so far is typical of the major leagues and this kind won't be available for the fans to see until the Dodgers get a ball park that does justice to the game."

First baseman Gil Hodges, who lives in Brooklyn, said, "Not to condemn the Coliseum, but everyone knows it is not a good place to play ball. Everyone is trying to make the best of it."

"Mr. O'Malley went out to Los Angeles with all good intentions and it's a shame the treatment he has received. If we get a stadium in Chavez Ravine I don't think anybody will be sorry."

Councilmen John Holland and Pat McGee, leaders in the opposition to the city-Dodger deal, continued making public speeches against the measure.

J. A. Smith of the Citizens Committee to Save Chavez Ravine declared, "Giles' statement smacks of the same pressure tactics that were used to engineer the Dodger-Chavez deal through the city council."

"It can only be regarded for what it is—an attempt to intimidate the voters of Los Angeles."

KNEW GIANTS WOULD IMPROVE

Durocher Claims Bums Not So Bad

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Leo Durocher, the seldom silent seer who managed both clubs, thinks the National League—leading Giants may not be that good, and the last that bad.

Seated in a well upholstered chair as a television executive with a well upholstered salary of a reported $135,000 a year, Leo admitted Friday he knew all along the San Francisco Giants would be improved.

He can produce a tape recording made weeks ago in which he said the Giants, the club he managed in New York from 1949 through 1955, would be 50 per cent better than last year, when they finished sixth for the second season in a row.

"I said tested stars such as Willie Mays, Johnny Antonelli and Daryl Spencer would come through, and such rookies as the kid catcher, Bob Schmir", and Jim Davenport, Orlando Cepeda, Don Taussig and Willie Kirkland would make a difference," said Leo.

At the moment, the Gian's lead the NL by 1½ games, winning 12 of their last 15 since Mays got hot.

"The Giants may not be that good," Leo conceded, "but if they pick up another good pitcher—watch out."

As for the Los Angeles Dodgers, the onetime Brooklyn bunch he managed from 1939 through 1946, Durocher observed:

"It may be they waited too long to rebuild, but I think the club probably wanted to bring its established stars to Los Angeles, for good insurance as well as fan attraction."

"But they have some good young players. They'll do all right."

Leo then switched to the New York Yankees. "Just look at them. They'll win from here to the next club. It's a great ball club and Casey Stengel is a fine manager."

"So they'll win the pennant—and I'll bet you next year they'll trade off at least two players and bring in two new ones. Those fellows believe in moving, and staying ahead."

"The Yankees are murdering everyone. So I get a laugh the other day. I see where Stengel says his club ain't hitting—and he's going to 'bring up four or five young guys from the minors.' 'How can you beat that?'"

Miss Prentice Takes Land Of The Sky Lead

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., who's been playing golf for half of her 25 years, Friday set a women's competitive course record 68 for a four-stroke lead in the first round of the $5,000 Land of the Sky Open Tournament.

Jo Ann's 34-34-68 was six under women's par for the 6,250-yard Biltmore Forest Country Club Course. The score bettered a record 69 set in 1940 by Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta.

Jackie Pung of San Francisco shot a 72 for second place and a one-shot lead over four rivals—Marlene Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla.; Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga.; Wilfrid Smith of St. Clair Montevideo, Uruguay.

The all-pro field of 21 moves to the Beaver Lake Course Saturday for the second round. The final round of the 54-hole tourney will be played Sunday at the Country Club of Asheville.

A sizzling putter did the trick for Miss Prentice whose seventh place finish Sunday in the Peach Blossom Open at Spartanburg, S. C., was her best this year. She had four birdies and a bogey on each nine.

British Yachts Arrive For Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Three British yachts entered in the June 1 race from Newport to Bermuda arrived here Friday by oceanliner.

The largest is Drumbeat a 57-foot, 8-inch craft with twin centerboards which will be sailed by Max Aitken, son of Lord Beaverbrook. Arriving with the 37-foot Bellmore, owned by T. V. Steele, were two crewmen, Lt. Commander D. J. Hailifax and L. D. Wise. The other yacht is Geoffrey Patinson's Uomic, a 38-footer.

Russia Plans Net Tournament

LONDON (AP)—Russia said Friday it wants the best 10 players at Wimbledon this year to appear in a Moscow tennis meet, soon after the British tournament.

Moscow Radio broadcast the invitation, adding modestly the Soviet Union "does not hope to win" in the Wimbledon junior championships next month. Russia has two entries.

Chamberlain Quits Kansas To Launch 160-Game Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain, one of the most publicized basketball players of the generation, announced Friday he was quitting the University of Kansas to launch a 160-game barnstorming tour.

At the same time, he leveled a blast at the brand of basketball played at Kansas, saying it was "hurting my chances of ever developing into a successful professional player."

The 7-foot All-America star from Philadelphia, in a copyrighted, signed article in Look magazine, said he planned to organize 10-man squads, one of Negro players and one of whites, for the tour.

"We'll play 160 games, beginning in South America very soon and continuing the next basketball season through the United States," he added. "This tour will give me the competition I need to get ready for the pro league."

HERBERT TIED FOR 2ND

Ernie Vossler In Kansas City Lead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ernie Vossler of Midland, Tex., sporting a new putter and a new pair of spectacles, shot into the halfway lead of the $22,500 Kansas City Open Golf Tournament Friday with a seven-under-par 65 for a 36-hole score of 132.

The 29-year-old Texan, who never has won a major tournament, left the name players at least two strokes behind.

Lionel Hebert, the PGA champion, shot a 68 for 134 and a second place tie with Tommy Jacobs, the first round leader; Bruce Crampton, Sydney, Australia, and Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa.

Jacobs, 23, from Whittier, Calif., tied the course record Thursday with a 64, but slipped to 70 on the 6,668-yard Hillcrest Course.

Vossler missed the green with his tee shot on the 250-yard par three first hole and took a bogey four, but he never was over par on any of the remaining 17 holes.

Although rain had spattered the course, Vossler had four putts of about 16 feet for birdies on the back nine.

Player, who added a 67 to an identical first round total, played his irons sensationally, and dropped short putts for birdies on seven holes. He bogied twice, at the sixth and sixteenth greens.

Crampton said he found the greens much the same as in Australia. He proved he liked them by dropping birdies from the 11th through the 14th holes and almost came in with a 63. But his putts lipped the cup on both the 17th and 18th greens.

Youth gave the veterans a back seat through the first 36 holes. Only Hebert and Vossler among the five top finishers are more than 23 years old.

Roberto DeVicenzo of Mexico was third low scorer. He shot a 67 for a 138 total.

Tied for seventh at 139 were seven pros, Bill Seznicki, a reformed hockey player from Stoneham, Mass.; Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Wes Ellis Jr. of Ridgewood, N. J.; Dow Finster-

Few other details were given of the proposed campaign.

Wilt said the squads would be made up of "real good players I know of, who never got a chance to play in college or who couldn't quite make the pro grade."

He added he was looking forward to playing pro basketball in the National Basketball Assn., as a member of the Philadelphia Warriors, who hold draft rights to the Warriors until 1959, after his college class is graduated.

"I'm glad that because I'm not ready for the pros yet by a long shot—or even a jump shot," Chamberlain said in the magazine.

"The game I was forced to play at KU wasn't basketball.

"I wasn't developing the all-around game I need to meet the kind of challenge Bill Russell had to face when he moved up from the University of San Francisco to the Boston Celtics.

"There is so much big talent in the pros that they don't look up to anybody."

Ed Gottlieb, owner of the Warriors, was in Europe, and unavailable immediately for comment.

At Lawrence, Kan., Dick Harp, Kansas coach, refused to comment on Chamberlain's criticism of Kansas basketball, but he wished his protege success in his new venture.

"I am certain Wilt will go on to prove himself the finest player in the history of the game," Harp said.

Chamberlain said the barnstorming tour would give him a chance to make some money for his family. "There are nine of us, six boys and three girls," he said, "and we've always had to struggle to get along."

The stringbean Negro, sought by more than 200 colleges before he enrolled at Kansas, said he wanted to deny reports he received $25,000 to $30,000 for playing basketball at Kansas and that he once asked $5,200 besides tuition, room and board, to attend Indiana.

He said at Kansas he received only board, room, tuition and $15 a month for laundry and incidentals.

He said he only considered four colleges—Dayton, Michigan, Indiana and KU. "Some Southern schools got in touch with me before they realized my color," he added.

Chamberlain was named on The Associated Press All-America last season for the second time. He led in the voting.

Lace Panties Girl Defeated In Paris Meet

PARIS (AP) — Karol Fageros, the lace panties girl from Miami, was eliminated Friday, but two other Americans, Budge Patty and Mrs. Dorothy Head Knode, advanced to the fourth round of the French International Tennis Tournament.

Miss Fageros, whose gold lame attire has been barred at Wimbledon, was upset in a women's third round match by Suzanne Le Besnais of France, 7-5, 6-3.

This left Mrs. Knode of Forest Hills, N. Y., the lone U. S. hope for the women's crown. Mrs. Knode, fifth seeded, advanced on a default by Josette Billiaz of France.

Patty, former Wimbledon champion from Los Angeles and Paris, swept to an easy victory over Jiri Javorski of Czechoslovakia 6-1, 6-2, 6-3. The American never was pressed in the 40-minute match.

Patty teamed with Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt in winning third round men's doubles match from Bill Alvarez of Colombia and Emilio Martinez of Spain 6-4, 6-1, 6-0.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper, the Australian champion, gained the fourth round by defeating Antonio Palafox of Mexico 6-1, 7-5, 6-1. He and the fifth-seeded Patty were joined by Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy, Luis Ayala of Chile, Robert Haillet of France, Andres Gimeno of Spain and Anton Jancso of Hungary.

Shirley Bloomer of Britain, favorite for the women's title, defeated Jean Forbes of South Africa 6-3, 9-7.

Big Ten Plugs Hole In Rules On Eligibility

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Big Ten officials Friday plugged a loophole that enabled universities to hold athletes out of competition in their early school years and prolong their eligibility for varsity teams.

The policymaking representatives also rejected a proposal to restore junior varsity football.

The rule limiting athletic competition to four years was adopted last year. It became known as the red shirt rule.

In Friday's action the group specified that no student can be eligible after four consecutive 12-month periods following his initial entrance to college.

Under the old practice, some sophomores would scrimmage against the varsity, but would be withheld from regular games to prolong their eligibility.

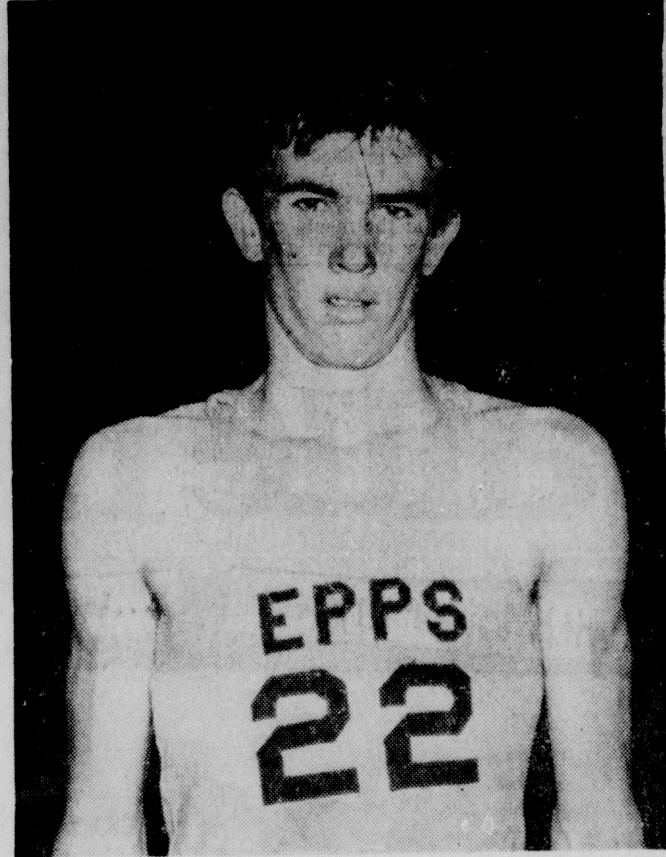

Golden Gloves Champ To Make Pro Debut Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres, National AAU and Golden Gloves middleweight champion, makes his pro debut Saturday night.

The 22-year-old Puerto Rican-born New Yorker meets Gene Hamilton of Winston-Salem, N. C., in the feature six-rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena. Jose is managed by Gus D'Amato, who brought Floyd Patterson from the amateur and Olympic ranks to the world pro heavyweight championship.

Rebel Meeting

The Rebel League Board of Directors will meet Monday evening at 7:30 in the West Monroe City Hall.

COLLECTS TRACK MEDALS — Until this year he had never entered more than three meets a season, but Julius "Dobbin" Plunkett, Epps High, has won 15 medals, topping three seasons of work this year when he won the state Class B mile. He won the district B-2 mile last year, repeated this season, additionally winning the 880. He placed third in the 880 in the state meet. He was second in his class in the mile run in the "Meet of Champions" at New Orleans.

Round Table Seeks To Build Bank Roll

The Associated Press

The Kerr Stable's Round Table, winner of 19 of his last 20 races and the sport's newest millionaire, goes after another big $100,000-added event Saturday at Hollywood Park with only four opponents barring the way from a net $63,300 purse.

The race is the mile and one-sixteenth Californian, and Round Table looms as a prohibitive favorite to win and hike his total bankroll to $1,069,064 as third leading money winner in the world.

Only Nashua, with $1,238,565, and Citation, with $1,085,760 are ahead of him. Both are retired.

Other important races dot the stakes schedule. Twelve are entered for the $50,000-added Jersey Stakes at Garden State Park, 13 for the $30,000-added Acorn Stakes at Belmont Park, 14 in the $25,000-added Suffolk Downs Stakes, and 16 for the $20,000-added Continental Turf Handicap at Washington Park.

The Sunny Blue Farm's Lincoln Road, second behind Tim Tam in the Kentucky and Florida Derbies and the Preakness, heads the 3-year-olds who meet in the mile and one-eighth Jersey Stakes. The Jersey is the TV and radio (CBS) offering from 3-3:30 p.m. (CST).

Round Table packs 130 pounds and is to be ridden by Willie Shoemaker. The 4-year-old meets horses he has whipped several times. Laurence Pollack and Roland Bond's Terrang, with 115 pounds, is next in the weights. The other three, each packing 107, are Seaneen, Pit Boss and The Searcher.

With Idun, unbeaten filly owned by Mrs. C. Ulrick Bay, temporarily sidelined, a large field was entered for the Acorn Stakes at one mile. Most of the 3-year-old misses are eligible for the $60,000-added Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont June 21.

I. J. Collins' Dixie Miss, winner of a division of the Prioress Stakes, the Foxcatcher Farms' Lopar, Ned W. Brent's Polamby, and the Short Brook Farm's Craftiness were runners-up to Idun last fall in the Frizette and Gardenia Stakes, respectively.

Lincoln Road hasn't won a race this year, and under allowance conditions packs only 111 pounds in the Jersey. Li'l Fella, Talent Show, Balmacara and Deack Duncan each carry 118.

The Boncrust Farm's Backbone, winner of the Chesapeake Stakes and the Hartford Handicap, is the probable favorite in the 6-furlong Suffolk Downs Stakes. W. W. Carroll's Charlie Boy and Gerald S. Colletta's Admirals Joy also pack 121.

Ekaba, who won the $50,000 Golden Gate Handicap two weeks ago for the Agoura Stock Farms, has top weight of 124 pounds in the 6-furlong Continental Turf Handicap. The Hasty House Farm has the entry of Mahan, 118, and Arcandy, 116, while another entry is Fred W. Hooper's Alhambra, 115, and Greek Game, 116. Mahan won the Laurel International last fall. John Zitnick's Manassas, 1957 Arlington Handicap winner, has 120 pounds.

Matchmaker Brown Quits International

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Brown announced his resignation as matchmaker of the International Boxing Club Friday following several recent appearances before a grand jury investigating pro boxing.

In a letter to the state athletic commission, he said he was returning his matchmaker's license because in the last few months "there has been a great deal of unnecessary strain both on my family and myself."

Later the 57-year-old former fighter, manager and promoter told newsmen "I couldn't stand the sneers I got from downtown."

As matchmaker for the sprawling IBC, Brown has been responsible for most of the Wednesday and Friday night network television fights for the last six years. He had been assistant to Al Weill for two years and succeeded Weill in 1952. Weill quit to concentrate on managing heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano.

Brown handed in his resignation to Truman Gibson, recently appointed president of the IBC.

"We're sorry about it," said Gibson. "It's his decision."

Gibson named Brown's assistant, Jack Barrett, acting head matchmaker.

Brown was among a dozen boxing figures subpoenaed by District Attorney Frank Hogan on March 21 to appear before the New York County grand jury.

On April 25, he was ordered by General Sessions Judge John A. Mullen to answer specific questions before the jury.

The order was issued after Chief Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Scotti, in charge of the Rackets Bureau, said Brown admitted he "talked in code" to Paul John Carbo.

Carbo, also known as Frankie Carbo, was described by the district attorney's office as "an undercover manager of professional prizefighters through various 'front men.'"

MATCHED

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Carter of Linden, N. J., a leading heavyweight contender until he entered the army in 1957, has signed to meet Willi Besmanoff of Germany in a television 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, June 13.

12 Colleges To Compete In 56th Rowing Regatta

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Thirty-one shells from 12 colleges will compete in the 56th Annual Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. Regatta on Onondaga Lake June 21.

The Syracuse Regatta Assn. said Friday 12 boats would race in the three-mile varsity event, nine in the junior varsity competition and ten in the freshman event.

Cornell is defending champion in the varsity and junior varsity classes, while Navy will defend its title in the freshman race.

Beleaguered Dodgers Can Only Wait, Hope And Pray

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, as beleaguered as a big league baseball club can get, pursued the only policy possible Friday in the newest storm over their future home.

"All we can do is wait, hope and pray," said an attache of the Dodgers.

The fresh upheaval came when Warren Giles, National League president, warned in Cincinnati Thursday he would recommend removal of the Los Angeles franchise if voters fail to approve Chavez Ravine as a site for the Dodgers' proposed new home.

Political factions for and against the measure promptly went into heated action.

Walter O'Malley, Dodgers' president, who has been riding a storm ever since deciding to move the Dodgers from Brooklyn, stood on a plea that baseball be kept out of politics and politics out of baseball.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said in New York: "This is strictly a National League matter and out of my province."

"But one thing is obvious to everybody—if the referendum does not pass, both the National League and the Dodgers will have terrific problems."

The Chavez Ravine referendum comes to vote June 3.

For the sports fan, at least, the issue overshadows such elections of national significance as the races for governor and the Senate.

There was comment also from members of the Dodger team in Cincinnati.

Don Drysdale, young pitcher whose home is in suburban Van Nuys here, observed: "Passage of the proposition can't help but help the team. Nobody would have to worry about where they're going to play in the future."

Of the Dodgers' temporary site in Memorial Coliseum, Drysdale added: "I don't think the caliber of ball played in the Coliseum so far is typical of the major leagues and this kind won't be available for the fans to see until the Dodgers get a ball park that does justice to the game."

First baseman Gil Hodges, who lives in Brooklyn, said, "Not to condemn the Coliseum, but everyone knows it is not a good place to play ball. Everyone is trying to make the best of it."

"Mr. O'Malley went out to Los Angeles with all good intentions and it's a shame the treatment he has received. If we get a stadium in Chavez Ravine I don't think anybody will be sorry."

Councilmen John Holland and Pat McGee, leaders in the opposition to the city-Dodger deal, continued making public speeches against the measure.

J. A. Smith of the Citizens Committee to Save Chavez Ravine declared, "Giles' statement smacks of the same pressure tactics that were used to engineer the Dodger-Chavez deal through the city council."

"It can only be regarded for what it is—an attempt to intimidate the voters of Los Angeles."

KNEW GIANTS WOULD IMPROVE

Durocher Claims Bums Not So Bad

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Leo Durocher, the seldom silent seer who managed both clubs, thinks the National League — leading Giants may not be that good, and the last that bad.

Seated in a well upholstered chair as a television executive with a well upholstered salary of a reported $135,000 a year, Leo admitted Friday he knew all along the San Francisco Giants would be improved.

He can produce a tape recording made weeks ago in which he said the Giants, the club he managed in New York from 1949 through 1955, would be 50 per cent better than last year, when they finished sixth for the second season in a row.

"I said tested stars such as Willie Mays, Johnny Antonelli and Daryl Spencer would come through, and such rookies as the kid catcher, Bob Schmidt, and Jim Davenport, Orlando Cepeda, Don Tausig and Willie Kirkland would make a difference," said Leo.

At the moment, the Gian's lead the NL by 1½ games, winning 12 of their last 15 since Mays got hot.

"The Giants may not be that good," Leo conceded, "but if they pick up another good pitcher — watch out."

As for the Los Angeles Dodgers, the onetime Brooklyn bunch he managed from 1939 through 1946, Durocher observed:

"It may be they waited too long to rebuild, but I think the club probably wanted to bring its established stars to Los Angeles, for good insurance as well as fan attraction."

"But they have some good young players. They'll do all right."

The Dodgers are last, 9½ games back, for the first time since 1952.

Leo then switched to the New York Yankees. "Just look at them. They'll win from here to the next block. It's a great ball club and Casey Stengel is a fine manager."

"So they'll win the pennant" and I'll bet you next year they'll trade off at least two players and bring in two new ones. Those fellows believe in moving, and staying ahead."

"The Yankees are murdering everyone. So I get a laugh the other day. I see where Stengel says his club ain't hitting — and he's going to 'bring up four or five young guys from the minors.' "How can you beat that?"

Miss Prentice Takes Land Of The Sky Lead

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala., who's been playing golf for half of her 25 years, Friday set a women's competitive course record 63 for a four-stroke lead in the first round of the $5,000 Land of the Sky Open Tournament.

Jo Ann's 34-34—68 was six under women's par for the 6,250-yard Biltmore Forest Country Club Course. The score bettered a record 69 set in 1940 by Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta.

Jackie Pung of San Francisco shot a 72 for second place and a one-shot lead over four rivals — Marlene Hage of Delray Beach, Fla.; Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga.; Wiffi Smith of St. Clair Montevideo, Uruguay.

The all-pro field of 21 moves to the Beaver Lake Course Saturday for the second round. The final round of the 54-hole tourney will be played Sunday at the Country Club of Asheville.

A sizzling putter did the trick for Miss Prentice whose seventh place finish Sunday in the Peach Blossom Open at Spartanburg, S. C., was her best this year. She had four birdies and a bogey on each nine.

Time Extension Won't Be Asked Patterson Says

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Mississippi Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson said Friday he will not ask any further extension of time to answer a federal court suit claiming the state's voter registration laws disenfranchise Negroes.

Patterson said his office will file an answer with a three-judge court before the June 1 deadline.
The Rev. H. D. Darby, Negro minister of Prentiss, Miss., filed the suit and also asks an injunction against Patterson and Jefferson Davis County Circuit Clerk

James Daniel enforcing the laws.
The date for the hearing has not been set. It will be heard by Federal Judge Ben Cameron of Meridian, a member of the Fifth
U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.
Federal Judge Sidney C. Mize of the Southern Mississippi District, and Federal Judge Claude Clayton of the North Mississippi District.

HAPPY ENDING

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — La-
Royce M. Cecil was a happy bride-to-be when she appeared at the Daily Oklahoman society department to give the newspaper

details of her wedding plans.
Shortly after she left, she frantically called the society editor and asked, "Is my marriage license there?" An immediate search was started, and the license found in time for the girl to step down the aisle without a hitch.

Louise McGuire Chapter Honors Mrs. L. Davis

Mrs. Davis, D.D.G.M. of District No. 6, of the State of Louisiana, was honored on her official visit to the Louise McGuire Chapter No. 4, at the regular meeting in the Masonic Hall. Lattace work entwined with greenery and a profusion of spring flowers placed at intervals with small birds and butterflies carried out the Spring Garden Theme.

Mr. Bertis Rayburn, Worthy Patron, called the meeting to order and the officers in formal attire, took their stations at the close of the beautiful march, with Mrs. Dollie Douglas at the piano. The Worthy Matron was invited to the speakers stand and under her instructions, each phase of the work was presented.

Sister Davis gave a short and impressive talk entitled, "We Walk by Faith and Not by Sight," at the close of the meeting.

A delightful social hour followed for the honor guest in the dining room of the hall. The "T" shaped table was covered with a pink net over pink taffeta cloth. A May-

YOUR PROBLEMS

To Save Face, Ask Hubby To Check House

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: What do you think of a husband who, in front of guests, calls his wife and says, "Come here a minute"? Then he moves a lamp or a chair and points out for all to see, a spot where she failed to dust?

This has happened to me no less than a dozen times and I am just about through having guests in the house. I'd appreciate it if you'd offer a suggestion, or a reply to put him in his place.—Just Call Me "Dusty"

Dear Dusty: Don't cut yourself off from civilization merely because you're married to a tasteless clod. Simply do this:

About 15 minutes before the guests are scheduled to arrive, ask your husband, "Let's call 'Crusty' to make a thorough inspection of the house and point out all the areas that need attention. Then you'll be relieved of the embarrassment of having these details brought up later and it will disarm him completely."

Dear Ann: I keep thinking this is all a nightmare and that I will wake up any minute. I'm 18 and a senior in high school. My steady boy friend talked me into eloping four months ago because he wanted to quit school and join the Army.

I didn't use my head. It all seemed so exciting. I knew my folks would never give me permission to get married because they hated the fellow. We ran off and a J.P. performed the ceremony. Six weeks later he was inducted.

ABWA To Be Organized In Twin-Cities

Monroe and West Monroe have been selected as the next location of the American Business Woman's Association. The local chapter will be installed by Cecelia Moran, field executive of the association.

Mrs. Moran explained the purpose of the association is to elevate the social and business standards of women in business. ABWA is non-union, non-political and will not overlap other business groups.

Members are admitted on an invitational basis and membership is confined to women engaged in business. The group will have monthly meetings at which time members will be united educationally, culturally and socially.

The installation date of selected charter members is set for May 25, at the Frances Hotel.

Our Lady Of Fatima Group Tours Farm

The children of the Our Lady of Fatima kindergarten were treated to a day on Dr. and Mrs. Fred Polen's farm. The day was spent viewing all of the farm animals, a picnic lunch by the farm lake with an out-of-doors story hour.

On the return trip, the children were invited to the Polen's residence in town to further delight them.

Enjoying the "Trip to the Farm" were Chris Plaisance, Lennell Van Vekhoven, Kathy Fontana, Larry May, Lawrence Daughan, Damian DuBos, Patsy Kelly, Joe Kelly Reljac, Bill Riley, Laura Lou Polen, Morris Haas, Eugene Williams, Tom Hayes, Brenda Ann McGuire, Donald Hottel, Brenda Bell, Mary Joe Mascart, Mary Margaret Marsala, Patty Joseph, Lee Mattox, Pat Ellington, Bob Spatafora, Margaret Charlton, Wayne Seidenspinner, Donnie Balsamo, and Richard Wilds.

Mothers assisting the teacher, Mrs. Floyd Southwell, were Mrs. F. E. Polen, Mrs. R. Ellington, Mrs. W. J. Riley, Jr., and Mrs. C. J. Fontana.

Louise McGuire Chapter Honors Mrs. L. Davis

Mrs. Davis, D.D.G.M. of District No. 6, of the State of Louisiana, was honored on her official visit to the Louise McGuire Chapter No. 4, at the regular meeting in the Masonic Hall. Lattace work entwined with greenery and a profusion of spring flowers placed at intervals with small birds and butterflies carried out the Spring Garden Theme.

Mr. Bertis Rayburn, Worthy Patron, called the meeting to order and the officers in formal attire, took their stations at the close of the beautiful march, with Mrs. Dolie Douglas at the piano. The Worthy Matron was invited to the speakers stand and under her instructions, each phase of the work was presented.

Sister Davis gave a short and impressive talk entitled, "We Walk by Faith and Not by Sight," at the close of the meeting.

A delightful social hour followed for the honor guest in the dining room of the hall. The "T" shaped table was covered with a pink net over pink taffeta cloth. A May-pole, encircled with pink roses, protruded from the center of the table with pastel streamers extending to the corners of the table, where pink candles burned in dainty net holders. Miniature dolls represented the queen and her subjects to enhance the table.

Assisting with the evening courtesies were Mrs. Moonie Collier, Mrs. Pattie Spencer, Mrs. Pearl Clark, Mrs. Inas Gwin, Mrs. Bonnie Hales, Mrs. Elsie Roberts, Mrs. Elise Baugh, Mrs. Annie Baldwin, Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, Mrs. Jennie Sullivan, Mrs. Minnie Gill, Mrs. Katherine Morgan and Mrs. Ethel Newport.

YOUR PROBLEMS

To Save Face, Ask Hubby To Check House

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: What do you think of a husband who, in front of guests, calls his wife and says, "Come here a minute". Then he moves a lamp or a chair and points out for all to see, a spot where she failed to dust?

This has happened to me no less than a dozen times and I am just about through having guests in the house. I'd appreciate it if you'd offer a suggestion, or a reply to put him in his place.—Just Call Me "Dusty"

Dear Dusty: Don't cut yourself off from civilization merely because you're married to a tasteless clod. Simply do this:

About 15 minutes before the guests are scheduled to arrive, ask your husband, (Let's call "Crusty") to make a thorough inspection of the house and point out all the areas that need attention. Then you'll be relieved of the embarrassment of having these details brought up later and it will disarm him completely.

Mental Tests Can Find Cause Child's Slowness

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

By the time a child is three years old, unless he is mentally retarded, has an emotional block or deficient hearing, he should be able to talk. These are the three causes most often cited for failure to talk.

Mrs. G.T.C. writes, "I have a little boy three years old who was adopted at 14 months. He was cross-eyed and we had that corrected by surgery.

"We have just recently adopted a little girl of two and our boy seems to try to do the things she does. Maybe he just needed someone to play with. I would appreciate your help."

Answer

In your city or nearby you will find either a Family Social Service Agency, a Child Guidance Clinic or a university or college in which there are clinical psychologists who can give mental tests to determine his approximate mental age.

I would do this. Not only would it free you from worry, but if there are remediable causes which are handicapping his acquisition of speech, then you will find out what they are and do something about them.

Should Have Had Tests

If you adopted this child through a reputable child-placing agency, there should have been some mental tests given to determine his normality before you took him. Also there should have been a year's period of waiting so that you could be sure the boy fitted into your household and was free of any mental or physical abnormalities. That is the guarantee such an agency should give you.

While the other child will be an incentive to the boy to want to play and to talk to this small girl, surely he hasn't been denied all companionship these last three years, nor has he been living with people who failed to talk to him. He has had exactly the same inspiration to talk as any other only child. So I would look elsewhere for causes of his slow development.

If you would like our leaflet "Normal Speech Development" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 42 to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Altrusa Women's Club Hears Mrs. Helen Agnew Speak On Civil Defense

The Altrusa Executive and Professional Women's Club held its May dinner meeting at the Rendezvous on Thursday night with members of the Public Affairs committee hostesses, Mrs. Lester Carr, Miss Ann Michel, Miss Gertrude Gregory and Mrs. D. I. Hirsch.

Bright Maytime flowers in artistic fan shape and cerise candles adorned the length of the "T" shaped table. Reflected at the speakers table was a fan shaped decor of asters and stock in rose shades, interspersed with pink daisies and greenery. Further carrying out the theme of "In the Good 'Ole Summertime" were the pink and cerise programs. Mrs. Maibel Hood had charge of table decorations and made fans for each member and guest present.

Mrs. Helen Agnew, asst. director of area 4 civil defense, gave a very informative talk on "Civil Defense and National Disaster." Speaking of the nuclear threat to national survival, Mrs. Agnew said we face the challenge as community leaders who influence public opinion; as civic minded citizens, interested in the health and welfare of others; and as individuals wives and mothers concerned for the well-being of our homes and families. Our government is devoted to the search for an enduring peace. In that search, an immediate and constant effort is to reach with others a safe accord for ending the threat of nuclear warfare. Total readiness is the greatest deterrent to any aggression in the uncertain time that must endure until we can turn our atomic effort exclusively to the welfare of mankind. We must reach that state of readiness. Already experienced in discipline, executive and professional women recognize their special functions in the event of emergency, whether war caused or natural disasters that each year take their toll of life and property because they have been trained in first aid and in emergency care of the sick and injured. Mrs. Agnew reminded us that every one of us has a personal duty to help develop and maintain the non-military part of our nation's defense and that our strength helps keep bright the world hope for peace for generations to come. The speaker urged all to take a responsible part in civil defense.

The following members were in attendance: Mrs. Maibel Hood, Mrs. Marguerite Meek, Mrs. Gordie Phillips, Mrs. Maud Benstrup, Mrs. Helen Luckett, Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Mrs. Faye Heard, Miss Bernice McCoy, Miss Ann Michel, Miss Helen Syke, Mrs. Clarice Hunt, Mrs. Jewel Durham, Mrs. Addie Lou Juneman and Miss Lillie Glenn.

14th District Auxiliary Holds Election

The 14th District Ladies Auxiliary to V. F. W. met Sunday afternoon at the Rodney J. Hobbs Post 1809 for the purpose of electing and installing officers for the coming year.

Department president, Virginia Mathews, installed the following officers: Ruby Richardson, senior vice president; Kitty Procell, Jr., vice president; Peggy Joiner, treasurer; Laurine Bagwell, chaplain; Alice Scott, conductress; Rose Bartlett, guard; Ada Moore, Evelyn Weber, and Earline Griffin, trustees; Chris Hendry, patriotic instructor; Billie Ware, Mildred Newman and Pherry Cooper, color bearers.

Ruby Hanson was re-elected 14th District president of the Ladies Auxiliary to V. F. W. and will be installed at the Department Encampment in June.

Department president, Virginia Mathews, made her official inspection of the 14th District at this time. Rodney J. Hobbs Auxiliary was presented with a 100 cent membership banner at this time by June Moore, department senior vice president.

After the meeting adjourned the members and visitors enjoyed a social hour.

CLEVER, THESE CHINESE: Mandarin coat and trousers are easy to make at home using automatic machine embroidery.

Younger Set Is Going For Oriental Look

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The new interest in Oriental fashion has hit the younger generation as well as the grown-ups, and mothers are finding that the Chinese indeed are clever.

The trim, uncluttered lines of little Chinese jackets are perfect for active youngsters. The tapered pants are practical and becoming. And, even more important, upkeep is simple if the little Oriental outfits are made in sturdy, washable fabrics such as lightweight sailcloth or other cotton. The jacket is easy to make without a pattern, say local sewing center experts, for only three major pieces are required. The sleeves are cut all in one with the body of the jacket. However, if you feel that a pattern is necessary, you will find that most companies have patterns for children's box jackets which can be adapted with side slits and a mandarin collar for a Chinese look. The real interest of the Oriental look, however, lies in the decoration of the jacket. Edge the mandarin collar with contrasting braid and make frogs for the front closing. From there on, use your imagination to create gay and interesting decorations. The Chinese are famous for the colorful embroidered motifs they put on the backs of their mandarin coats and jackets and these can be reproduced by machine embroidery.

Trace the design you like on the back of the jacket. Place the area to be embroidered in an embroidery hoop. Then do the embroidery on your automatic sewing machine. You will find that the automatic feed - drop on the machine is a great help in this process. If you are embroidering a Chinese dragon, for instance, outline the motif in a narrow satin stitch, then fill in the design with tiny back - and - forth stitches. Flowers, trees and other designs may be done in the same way.

If you prefer to do your decorations more quickly, the applique technique also is effective. Plan to repeat a little of the back decoration on the front - perhaps a part of the design on a pocket. A bright red jacket with black trim is a classic Oriental color combination. However, you may choose between many gay combinations - a pale pink jacket with deep coral trousers, or a turquoise top with deep green trousers, for instance.

Remember that when the child outgrows the jacket, the embroidered motif may be cut out and applied to another garment.

Miss St. Amant Honored With Shower In Olla

Miss Irene St. Amant, bride-elect of Freddie Boles, was honored with a bridal shower in the annex of the First Methodist Church of Olla, Saturday evening, May 10. Hostesses were Mesdames: Glen Loe, Bert Loe, Charles R. Gaines, B. O. Williams, Mr. Strong, C. W. Waggoner, Henry Raspberry, J. O. Lancaster, Glenda Prestidge, U. V. Taylor, Ray B. Miller and L. D. Putnam. The oval serving table covered with an imported white linen cloth was centered with a low bowl of pink sweet williams. Arrangements of roses were used at vantage points. Pouring punch was Miss Nan Walters.

Oak Grove Recital Scheduled

Color Schemes Suggested By Betty Lenahan

Q. - I am planning to repaper my living room and would like advice as to what type and color paper to use. The furniture is maple, covered in a provincial print in brown, pink, green, yellow and white and I am making a large vari-colored braided rug for the room. The woodwork is in a natural finish and there is a large picture window. Could I use draw draperies, also in a provincial print, or would that be too much pattern in the room? What length and color should they be? I would like the room to have an Early American look.

A. - A weave effect wallpaper in a medium shade of green would be a good selection for your living room. You can use floor-length draw draperies at the window or for a more truly Early American effect simple cafe curtains hung from brass rods would be effective and at the same time provide the privacy of draw draperies. For either type of drapery, choose a pattern of small white sailcloth trimmed with dark green wool ball fringe. I think that another print would be too much pattern in the room.

Q. - The cabinets in our kitchen are birch, the counter tops are yellow and the rubber tile floor covering is green and white marbled. The room is rather dark as it has only one window. What colors would you suggest for the walls, ceiling, curtains and table and chairs that would give it a brighter appearance?

A. - You can brighten your kitchen considerably by painting the walls chartreuse, the ceiling yellow, getting curtains with a pattern in green, orange and brown on a yellow background and the table and chairs in a bright orange shade.

Q. - Would it be in good taste to use an oval braided rug in a living room furnished with Victorian pieces?

A. - Yes, an oval braided rug can be used in a Victorian setting.

Q. - I am in the process of decorating a room in my new home that will be used as a guest room and would like some suggestions. I have nothing for the room so can start from scratch. The walls are finished in knotty pine, the ceiling is white and the floor covering is red tile. The room is small and dark and in spite of a large window on the north side, receives little sun because of a covered patio. Could you give me a scheme that will make the room appear warmer and more cheerful?

A. - Here is a bright and cheerful color scheme for the guest room of your new home: A brass headboard bed with a green coverlet and gold and green striped dust ruffle; dressing table with a red plastic top and skirt of the striped fabric used as the dust ruffle; chest of drawers and two night tables in a maple finish; gold cotton throw rugs; cafe curtains with a small all-over floral pattern in red, green and gold; boudoir chair, upholstered in red; brass and white pottery lamps and accessories.

Fun Club For Next Year Is Organizing

Parents of children who are now in the sixth grade and who are interested in organizing a Fun Club for their children are asked to attend a meeting at the youth room of the St. Paul's Church on Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

Any boy or girl in the Twin Cities is eligible for membership in this new group, who will be in the seventh grade next year and upon application by his parents.

CHARLES E. BOYD, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Charles H. Boyd, was feted with a combination birthday and farewell party in his home recently. Twelve years old Charles will leave with his parents to make their new home in San Antonio, Texas. Sgt. Boyd has been stationed in Monroe for the past two years and is being transferred. Fifty youngsters attended the party.

The Pilot Club Holds Regular May Meeting

The Pilot Club met for the monthly program meeting Tuesday evening at Frances Hotel with Zola Smith presiding. She introduced one guest, Mrs. Nadine Marshall of El Dorado, Ark., who was a guest of Lois Mockabee.

Leta Tisdale, chairman of coordinating committee, brought the program using as her topic "Community Property Laws of the State of Louisiana." She defined community property laws as a highly evolved set of principles by which human beings should be guided. It is far kinder than common law which entitled women to little education or recognition. Louisiana law was founded in 1808 and was taken from the Code of Napoleon. It is perhaps the most ideal for intelligent and fairminded men and women who regard the marital relation as a permanent partnership. The women of this state are fortunate in that they are protected better than women of any other state.

A question and answer session was conducted and many interesting facets of this law were brought out. Lois Mockabee led the group in singing, concluding the meeting with the number "Sail On, International." Members enjoying this interesting meeting were: Nona Martin, Alyne Newsum, Hattie Strauss, Lois Mockabee, LaVerne Riddle, Leta Tisdale, Zola Chat-ham, Hermione Driskell, Melba Oliver, Ellen Thompson, Katie McGee, Zera Edwards, Anna Mae Breece, Mary Harker, Ida Rose Strohm, Hazel Garlington, Zola Smith, Helen Benoit, Cecile Parker, Lucille Barrett, Ruby Hatten and Julia Moore.

Altrusa Women's Club Hears Mrs. Helen Agnew Speak On Civil Defense

The Altrusa Executive and Professional Women's Club held its May dinner meeting at the Rendezvous on Thursday night with members of the Public Affairs committee hostesses, Mrs. Lester Carr, Miss Ann Michel, Miss Gertrude Gregory and Mrs. D. I. Hirsch.

Bright Maytime flowers in artistic fan shape and cerise candles adorned the length of the "T" shaped table. Reflected at the speakers of asters and stock shaped decor of asters and stock in rose shades, interspersed with pink daisies and greenery. Further carrying out the theme of "In the Good 'Ole Summertime" were the pink and cerise programs, Mrs. Maibel Hood had charge of table decorations and made fans for each member and guest present.

Mrs. Helen Agnew, asst. director of area 4 civil defense, gave a very informative talk on "Civil Defense and National Disaster." Speaking of the nuclear threat to national survival, Mrs. Agnew said we face the challenge as community leaders who influence public opinion; as civic minded citizens, interested in the health and welfare of others; and as individual wives and mothers concerned for the well-being of our homes and families. Our government is devoted to the search for an enduring peace. In that search, an immediate and constant effort is to reach with others a safe accord for ending the threat of nuclear warfare. Total readiness is the greatest deterrent to any aggression in the uncertain time that must endure until we can turn our atomic effort exclusively to the welfare of mankind. We must reach that state of readiness. Already experienced in discipline, executive and professional women recognize their special functions in the event of emergency, whether war caused or natural disasters that each year take their toll of life and property because they have been trained in first aid and in emergency care of the sick and injured. Mrs. Agnew reminded us that every one of us has a personal duty to help develop and maintain the non-military part of our nation's defense and that our strength helps keep bright the world hope for peace for generations to come. The speaker urged all to take a responsible part in civil defense.

The following members were in attendance: Mrs. Maibel Hood, Mrs. Marguerite Meek, Mrs. Gordie Phillips, Mrs. Maud Benrup, Mrs. Helen Luckett, Mrs. Adrienne Carr, Mrs. Faye Heard, Miss Bernice McCoy, Miss Ann Michel, Miss Helen Sype, Mrs. Clarice Hunt, Mrs. Jewel Durham, Mrs. Addie Lou Juneman and Miss Lillie Glenn.

14th District Auxiliary Holds Election

The 14th District Ladies Auxiliary to V. F. W. met Sunday afternoon at the Rodney J. Hobbs Post 1809 for the purpose of electing and installing officers for the coming year.

Department president, Virginia Mathews, installed the following officers: Ruby Richardson, senior vice president; Peggy Joiner, treasurer; Laurie Bagwell, chaplain; Alice Scott, conductress; Rose Bartlett, guard; Ada Moore, Evelyn Webber, and Earline Griffin, trustees; Chris Hendry, patriotic instructor; Kitty Procell, secretary; Billie Ware, Mildred Newman and Pherry Cooper, color bearers.

Ruby Hanson was re-elected 14th District president of the Ladies Auxiliary to V. F. W. and will be installed at the Department Encampment in June.

Department president, Virginia Mathews, made her official inspection of the 14th District at this time. Rodney J. Hobbs Auxiliary was presented with a 100 per cent membership banner at this time by June Moore, department senior vice president.

After the meeting adjourned the members and visitors enjoyed a social hour.

CLEVER, THESE CHINESE: Mandarin coat and trousers are easy to make at home using automatic machine embroidery.

Younger Set Is Going For Oriental Look

Associated Press Women's Editor

The new interest in Oriental fashions has hit the younger generation as well as the grown-ups, and mothers are finding that the Chinese indeed are clever.

The trim, uncluttered lines of little Chinese jackets are perfect for active youngsters. The tapered pants are practical and becoming. And, even more important, upkeep is simple if the little Oriental outfits are made in sturdy washable fabrics such as lightweight sailcloth or other cotton.

The jacket is easy to make without a pattern, say local sewing center experts, for only three major pieces are required. The sleeves are cut all in one with the body of the jacket. However, if you feel that a pattern is necessary, you will find that most companies have patterns for children's box jackets which can be adapted with side slits and a mandarin collar for a Chinese look.

The real interest of the Oriental look, however, lies in the decoration of the jacket. Edge the mandarin collar with contrasting braid and make frogs for the front closing. From there on, use your imagination to create gay and interesting decorations. The Chinese are famous for the colorful embroidered motifs they put on the backs of their mandarin coats and jackets and these can be reproduced by machine embroidery.

Trace the design you like on the back of the jacket. Place the area to be embroidered in an embroidery hoop. Then do the embroidery on your automatic sewing machine. You will find that the automatic feed - drop on the machine is a great help in this process. If you are embroidering a Chinese dragon, for instance, outline the motif in a narrow satin stitch, then fill in the design with tiny back - and - forth stitches. Flowers, trees and other designs may be done in the same way.

If you prefer to do your decorations more quickly, the applique technique also is effective. Plan to repeat a little of the back decoration on the front - perhaps a part of the design on a pocket.

A bright red jacket with black trousers is a classic Oriental color combination. However, you may choose between many gay combinations - a pale pink jacket with deep coral trousers, or a turquoise top with deep green trousers, for instance.

Remember that when the child outgrows the jacket, the embroidered motif may be cut out and applied to another garment.

Miss St. Amant Honored With Shower In Olla

Miss Irene St. Amant, bride-elect of Freddie Boles, was honored with a bridal shower in the annex of the First Methodist Church of Olla, Saturday evening, May 10. Hostesses were Mesdames: Glen Loe, Bert Loe, Charles R. Gaines, B. O. Williams, Mr. Strong, C. W. Waggoner, Henry Raspberry, J. O. Lancaster, Glenda Prestridge, U. V. Taylor, Ray B. Miller and L. D. Putnam.

The oval serving table covered with an imported white linen cloth was centered with a low bowl of pink sweet williams. Arrangements of roses were used at vantage points. Pouring punch was Miss Nan Walters.

Color Schemes Suggested By Betty Lenahan

Q - I am planning to repaper my living room and would like advice as to what type and color paper to use. The furniture is maple, covered in a provincial print in brown, pink, green, yellow and white and I am making a large vari-colored braided rug for the room. The woodwork is in a natural finish and there is a large picture window. Could I use draw draperies, also in a provincial print, or would that be too much pattern in the room? What length and color should they be? I would like the room to have an Early American look.

A - A weave effect wallpaper in a medium shade of green would be a good selection for your living room. You can use floor-length draw draperies at the window or for a more truly Early American effect simple cafe curtains hung from brass rods would be effective and at the same time provide the privacy of draw draperies. For either type I suggest white sailcloth trimmed with dark green wool ball fringe. I think that another print would be too much pattern in the room.

Q - The cabinets in our kitchen are birch, the counter tops are yellow and the rubber tile floor covering is green and white marbled. The room is rather dark as it has only one window. What colors would you suggest for the walls, ceiling, curtains and table and chairs that would give it a brighter appearance?

A - You can brighten your kitchen considerably by painting the walls chartreuse, the ceiling yellow, getting curtains with a pattern in green, orange and brown on a yellow background and the table and chairs in a bright orange shade.

Q - Would it be in good taste to use an oval braided rug in a living room furnished with Victorian pieces?

A - Yes, an oval braided rug can be used in a Victorian setting.

Q - I am in the process of decorating a room in my new home that will be used as a guest room and would like some suggestions. I have nothing for the room so can start from scratch. The walls are finished in knotty pine, the ceiling is white and the floor covering is red tile. The room is small and dark and in spite of a large window on the north side, receives little sun because of a covered patio. Could you give me a scheme that will make the room appear warmer and more cheerful?

A - Here is a bright and cheerful color scheme for the guest room of your new home: A brass headboard bed with a green coverlet and gold and green striped dust ruffle; dressing table with a red plastic top and skirt of the striped fabric used as the dust ruffle; chest of drawers and two night tables in a maple finish; gold cotton throw rugs; cafe curtains with a small all-over floral pattern in red, green and gold; boudoir chair, upholstered in red; brass and white pottery lamps and accessories.

Fun Club For Next Year Is Organizing

Parents of children who are now in the sixth grade and who are interested in organizing a Fun Club for their children are asked to attend a meeting at the youth room of the St. Paul's Church on Tuesday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

Any boy or girl in the Twin Cities is eligible for membership in this new group, who will be in the seventh grade next year, and upon application by his parents.

The Pilot Club Holds Regular May Meeting

The Pilot Club met for the monthly program meeting Tuesday evening at Frances Hotel with Zola Smith presiding. She introduced one guest, Mrs. Nadine Marshall of El Dorado, Ark., who was a guest of Lois Mockabee.

Leta Tisdale, chairman of coordinating committee, brought the program using as her topic "Community Property Laws of the State of Louisiana." She defined community property laws as a highly evolved set of principals by which human beings should be guided. It is far kinder than common law which entitled women to little education or recognition. Louisiana law was founded in 1808 and was taken from the Code of Napoleon. It is perhaps the most ideal for intelligent and fairminded men and women who regard the marital relation as a permanent partnership. The women of this state are fortunate in that they are protected better than women of any other state.

A question and answer session was conducted and many interesting facets of this law were brought out. Lois Mockabee led the group in singing, concluding the meeting with the number "Sail On, International." Members enjoying this interesting meeting were: Nona Martin, Aylene Newsom, Hattie Strauss, Lois Mockabee, LaVerne Riddle, Leta Tisdale, Zola Chat-ham, Hermione Driskell, Melba Oliver, Ellen Thompson, Katie McGee, Zera Edwards, Anna Mae Breece, Mary Harker, Ida Mae Stroh, Hazel Garlington, Zola Smith, Helen Benoit, Cecile Parker, Lucille Barrett, Ruby Hatten and Julia Moore.

CHARLES E. BOYD, son of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Charles H. Boyd, was feted with a combination birthday and farewell party in his home recently. Twelve years old Charles will leave with his parents to make their new home in San Antonio, Texas. Sgt. Boyd has been stationed in Monroe for the past two years and is being transferred. Fifty youngsters attended the party.

Former Assistant Treasury Official Plunges To Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Stephen B. Gibbons, 66-year-old former assistant secretary of the Treasury, plunged to his death Friday from an apartment window as his horrified wife watched.

Gibbons, who held the Treasury post during the administration of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, plunged from a bedroom window of his fifth-floor apartment.

His wife, May, told officers her husband had been ill and under treatment for a heart condition, but had remained active in banking activities.

It Wasn't All Tea And Roses As Ladies Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)— All obviously was not tea and roses at the national convention of the Grand Council of the Ladies' Oriental Shrine of North America Friday.

Past High Priestess Lady Winnie H. Story, of Odessa, Tex., filed a $100,000 slander suit in superior court against the present High Priestess Lady Mabel C. Herche, of Baltimore, Md.

Lady Story claimed in the suit Lady Herche had made statements to the effect that Lady Story was no lady.

The complaint by Lady Story alleged that Lady Herche said to Lady Story, during the convention: "You are no lady. You are a liar. You have forged names to this charter (an organization document), you are no lady now, nor have you ever been a lady. You are of immoral character and not qualified to have the title of past high priestess."

Mrs. Story said the statements made by Lady Herche were "false, slanderous and maliciously made, and are injurious to my reputation, health and business."

She was joined in the suit by her husband. The suit also listed the organization as a co-defendant.

H. L. DeBlieux Dies; Service Is Scheduled

BASTROP (Special) —Final rites for Honore Louis DeBlieux, 69-year-old Bastrop resident and father of Sen. J. D. DeBlieux of Baton Rouge, will be conducted today at 11 a.m. in St. Joseph's Catholic Church at Bastrop, with interment in the Catholic Cemetery by Blackwell-Golden Funeral Home.

Mr. DeBlieux died yesterday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Helen Hughes, in Bastrop, following an illness of several weeks. A native of Natchitoches, he moved to Bastrop in 1936.

He was a retired groceryman and farmer and a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Other survivors besides Mrs. Hughes and Sen. DeBlieux are his widow; six other sons, H. L. Jr. and Henry, both of Baton Rouge, and Robert, John, Walter and James of Bastrop; six other daughters, Mrs. Luther Brinson, Mrs. Mrs. Peggy Cayer, New Orleans; Mrs. Lois Compton, Dermott, Ark.; Mrs. Alma Honeycutt and Miss Mildred DeBlieux, Mer Rouge, and Mrs. Tina Stephenson, Bastrop; one brother, Alvin, Natchitoches, and two sisters, Mrs. Felix Landy Jr., Lafayette and Mrs. Louie Perot, Campti.

Palbearers, all sons-in-law, will be Luther Brinson, Edward Hughes, Jr., Ivy J. Stephenson, Everett Compton, James Cayer and Kenneth Honeycutt.

WEATHER FORECAST—The eastern half of U. S. will have clear skies today except for rain along Gulf coast and most of Mississippi Valley. In the west, rain is expected in Rockies, southern and central Plains, western Washington and northern California and Nevada. It will be warmer from middle Atlantic states through Ohio Valley into central Plains; cooler in the Dakotas, extreme upper Mississippi Valley and in the Carolinas. (AP Wire-photo Map)

MAKING HEAVY OUTLAYS

Daily Newspaper Expanding Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — Daily newspapers are making heavy outlays to expand their plants and buy new equipment despite the recession, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. (ANPA) said Friday.

ANPA said 415 dailies plan to spend $62,911,986 in 1958 for plant expansion and new equipment. Capital expenditures by the same group of newspapers last year totaled $87,250,585.

The future comparison available is an ANPA survey of 585 U. S. dailies, which showed $40,630,731 spent for plant expansion in 1953.

D. Tennant Bryant, ANPA president and publisher of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch and News Leader said: "These expenditures are eloquent proof of the confidence of publishers in the long-range growth of the business economy, despite uncertainties of the past 18 months."

"The future strength of newspapers rests on the health of the U. S. economy, and daily newspaper publishers have demonstrated a realistic approach to their confidence in the future, in spite of constantly increasing costs to produce newspapers."

ANPA general manager Cranston Williams said many newspapers are investing in new types of production equipment, including photo-composition, rapid etch engraving, high speed typesetting machines and more modern presses.

Ark. Man New FCC MEMBER

WASHINGTON (AP) — John S. Cross, Eureka Springs, Ark., electrical engineer who has had 25 years of communications service with the government, Friday was sworn in as a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Cross, 53, was given the oath by FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer before a large gathering of officials and friends at commission headquarters. He was recently appointed by President Eisenhower to serve out the unexpired term of Richard A. Mack, who resigned in March during a congressional investigation into television awards made by FCC. The term expires June 30, 1962.

Cross is a native of Birmingham, Ala. and holds his engineering degree from Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

He entered federal service in 1931 as engineer in charge of Hot Springs (Ark.) National Park. For the last 12 years he has been assistant chief of the state department's telecommunications division. He has represented this country at numerous international radio conferences.

Like Mack, Cross is a Democrat.

Annual Class Day Program Is Presented

Neville's senior class held its "Class Day" exercises yesterday morning in a student assembly. At the session, in addition to hearing the traditional class poem, prophecy, will, and special award presentations, students learned that $36,650 in scholarships have already been won by this year's class.

Principal, Paul J. Neal, made that announcement, and added that if all grants available to this year's class are accepted, they will number 83 and total $38,090.

Seniors Francis Genua and Anne McDonald opened the class day exercises with presentation of gifts to senior class sponsors, Kathryn Douciere and Lawrence Loftin, of the Neville faculty.

Dottie Dawson and Billy John Burnett jointly presented the class will; Martha Burns gave the class history; Tommy Grant and Francis Genua, the class prophecy, and Jackie Masur, the class Poem.

Two special awards went to Judy Lane and Gay Demmayr. Judy was presented the Bell Telephone Company award for outstanding achievement in science by Ed Cascio, of the Neville faculty, and Gay won the "Outstanding School Service" award presented by the Neville Key Club. The Key Club presentation was made by King Stubbs, a member of the group.

New Stronghold For Livestock Seen In Miss.

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — A meat packer official said Friday Mississippi is becoming a new stronghold of the livestock industry.

John Copeland, manager of Swift and Co. in Jackson, told the Rotary Club that two years ago Mid-Western cattle feeder companies would not buy Mississippi cattle because of their low quality.

Last week, he said, a big buyer told him he couldn't fill the orders he had for feeder cattle from Mississippi.

The big trend in livestock in Mississippi started in 1949, Copeland said. "Much progress has been made in quality, but there is still room for improvement," he said.

'Gator In N. O.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 3-foot-long alligator ambled along the city's South Carrollton, Ave., Friday, officers said, until a small boy nearly stepped on it and let out a wail. Passersby cornered the reptile and turned it over to police.

MAKING HEAVY OUTLAYS

Daily Newspaper Expanding Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — Daily newspapers are making heavy outlays to expand their plants and buy new equipment despite the recession, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. (ANPA) said Friday.

ANPA said 415 dailies plan to spend $62,911,986 in 1958 for plant expansion and new equipment. Capital expenditures by the same group of newspapers last year totaled $87,250,585.

The only comparison available is an ANPA survey of 585 U.S. dailies, which showed $40,630,731 spent for plant expansion in 1953. D. Tennant Bryant, ANPA president and publisher of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch and News Leader said: "These expenditures are eloquent proof of the confidence of publishers in the long-range growth of the business economy, despite uncertainties of the past 18 months."

"The future strength of newspapers rests on the health of the U.S. economy, and daily newspaper publishers have demonstrated a realistic approach to their confidence in the future, in spite of constantly increasing costs to produce newspapers."

ANPA general manager Cranston Williams said many newspapers are investing in new types of production equipment, including photocomposition, rapid etching, engraving, high speed typesetting machines and more modern presses.

Principal, Paul J. Neal, made that announcement, and added that if all grants available to this year's class are accepted, they will number 83 and total $38,090.

Seniors Francis Genusa and Anne McDonald opened the class day exercises with presentation of gifts to senior class sponsors, Kathryn Douciere and Lawrence Loftin, of the Neville faculty.

Ark. Man New FCC MEMBER

WASHINGTON (AP) — John S. Cross, Eureka Springs, Ark., electrical engineer who has had 25 years of communications service with the government, Friday was sworn in as a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Cross, 53, was given the oath by FCC Chairman John C. Doerfer before a large gathering of officials and friends at commission headquarters. He was recently appointed by President Eisenhower to serve out the unexpired term of Richard A. Mack, who resigned in March during a congressional investigation into television awards made by FCC. The term expires June 30, 1962.

Cross is a native of Birmingham, Ala. and holds his engineering degree from Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

He entered federal service in 1931 as engineer in charge of Hot Springs (Ark.) National Park. For the last 12 years he has been assistant chief of the state department's telecommunications division. He has represented this country at numerous international radio conferences.

Like Mack, Cross is a Democrat.

New Stronghold For Livestock Seen In Miss.

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — A meat packer official said Friday Mississippi is becoming a new stronghold of the livestock industry.

John Copeland, manager of Swift and Co. in Jackson, told the Rotary Club that two years ago Mid-Western cattle feeder companies would not buy Mississippi cattle because of their low quality.

Last week, he said, a big buyer told him he couldn't fill the orders he had for feeder cattle from Mississippi.

The big trend in livestock in Mississippi started in 1949, Copeland said. "Much progress has been made in quality, but there is still room for improvement," he said.

Men On Moon Seen By 1963
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Men on the moon by 1963 was a prediction Friday by an official of the firm which builds Atlas missiles, the manager of Convair-Astronautics, told the national convention of the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Officers Assn. "With less than a billion dollars for the development and construction of the needed rockets and associated equipment, we should be able to put men on the moon by 1963."

Memorial Rites Are Scheduled For War Dead
Memorial services are planned for 7 a.m. tomorrow at Hasley Cemetery in West Monroe, to honor the dead of the nation's wars. Hudson-Leehy Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary are sponsoring the services, which are open to the public.

Memorial Rites Are Scheduled For War Dead
VFW Commander R.D. Carter will give introductory remarks and the Rev. E.E. Taylor, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, will render the invocation.

Memorial Rites Are Scheduled For War Dead
The flag will be presented by George Scarpetis, representing the Woodmen of the World. W. Jack Webb, W.W. Sullivan and Roland Carter will have charge of the flag-raising ceremony, and Carter will also serve as bugler. Harold Hill will then address the group.
